Cripps Gives Encouraging View Of British Recovery

OTTAWA (CP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, today gave the Canadian people an encouraging picture on Britain's financial and economic recovery and stressed the need of maintaining the "greatest possible flow" of mutual trade between Canada and the United Kingdom.

ADDRESSES CLUB

In an address before the Ottawa Canadian Club which was broadcast over the CBC, he traced the development of Britain's economic difficulties since the end of the war, told of the steps taken to solve them and reported substantial increases on the British production front thus far in 1948.

In all of the 5,000-word address he made only one brief reference to his economic and financial discussions here this week with members of the Canadian government.

That was when he said that Britain hoped she now would have the period of U.S. Marshall

Aid in which "to work out together, to our mutual satisfaction, the problems surrounding the financial and economic relations of our two countries," and added:

"We fully realize the urgency and importance of this, which is one of the reasons which have brought me to Canada, and, if we put our hearts and heads into the job jointly and co-operatively, then there can be no doubt, great though the problems may be, as to our ultimate success."

Gambling Moral Social Evil, Says Report To Church

VANCOUVER (CP)—The United Church considers gambling "a grave moral and social evil."

Rev. R. J. Mutchmor, D.D., of Toronto, secretary of the Board of Evangelism and Social Services, at the United Church of Canada's 13th biennial general council here, issued a formal statement on gambling today.

It cited with approval a pronouncement of the Lambeth Conference of Anglican bishops which said "the habit of gambling... has led in so many cases to deterioration of character and ruin of homes."

Dog racing was "the most recent threat on Canada's gambling front," Toronto's new dog racing track was "a new potential form of gambling," he said, although there had been no betting at Toronto park yet.

Profits from Britain's $4,000,000,000 gambling industry "are being used to back current efforts to establish gambling in Canada." Already British Columbia had an annual betting bill, in 1947, of more than $8,000,000.

Ask United Nations Consider Creating Armed Guard Force

PARIS (AP)—The General Assembly of the United Nations today formally asked consideration of creation of a United Nations guard and to furnish "reparation for injuries incurred in the service of the U.N."

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Reliable sources said today members of the outlawed Stern Gang have made at least indirect threats against the life of Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator in Palestine.

Bunche, a U.S. citizen, has taken over the duties of Count Folke Bernadotte, assassinated last Friday in Jerusalem. The Israeli government has accused Sternists of the Bernadotte slaying.

The sources, who asked that their identities be withheld, said that because of the Israeli government's extreme concern over these threats, Bunche and his top associates had been placed under a heavy guard of Jewish police.

Count Bernadotte was known to have been offered a similar guard when he first began his mediation work. He refused it, however, saying there should be no need for such a precaution.

The exact nature of the threats against Bunche was not disclosed. The Stern gang, however, is reported to have said that Count Bernadotte's successor would have no immunity.

Denmark Makes Plans To Develop Greenland With Status Of County

COPENHAGEN (Reuter)—Greenland, the world's largest island and Denmark's Arctic colony, may be given the status of a county with representation in the Danish parliament.

The government is investigating this possibility as part of a broad plan to develop this relatively unexplored possession which has so far been a severe economic burden.

Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft has announced that two judges are to inquire into the administration of justice on the island. At present there is neither a penal code nor a prison there.

The prime minister said that during a visit to Greenland he will listen to the wishes of the provincial council and discuss with Greenlanders the possibility of combining Danish commercial activities with opportunities presented by Greenland.

PROGRESS DESIRED

"It is my task to convince the Greenlanders that Danes desire the good of Greenland," Hedtoft said.

Since the end of the war, Denmark has poured increasing amounts of money into the colony. In 1946-47, the sum granted for investment in Greenland was $38,000. The figure for 1947-48 was $1,740,000 and a vote of $2,600,000 has been made for 1948-49. A meteorological service alone costs about $1,200,000 a year.

The Danish government is determined to develop to the full all possibilities in the island. So far, development has been hampered by consideration of expenses involved in combating the intense cold and generally adverse weather conditions.

Six-sevenths of Greenland's 840,000 square miles is covered with ice—a shield which is up to 7,000 feet thick. The ice-free coastal strip reaches its maximum width at Scoresby South, on the east coast, where it is 190 miles wide. On the west coast the greatest width is about 100 miles, at Holsteinsborg. Deep fjords cut into this habitable area.

Main sources of revenue to the Danish government from Greenland are the deposits of cryolite, used in production of aluminum.

MODERNIZING MINES

Danish plans for development include modernizing the coal mine at Kuttligsat—to be carried out by a Norwegian mining engineer with a Scottish expert as an adviser. The cost is estimated at $64,000 and the mine's capacity is expected to be increased by 13,000 to 20,000 tons a year.

Four new electricity works are to be constructed, better harbors built and more roads laid down.

Hospitals are to be constructed near Angmagssalik and Upernavik, and others will be extended. Three modern schools will be erected at Julianehaab, Godthaab and Egedesminde. Two schools for housewives are also planned. The present number of Danish teachers in Greenland—now about 20—is to be increased. It has been decided to use Danish as the language of instruction.

Building to be carried out includes: seven more meteorological stations in addition to the 104 existing stations; a combined slaughterhouse and shrimp-canning factory near Narssak; a boat-building slip for the repair of local craft near Egedesminde; and oil tanks capable of taking 10,000 tons direct from tankers.

GOERING'S OWN STORY . . . By WERNER BROSS

Anti-Jewish Horrors Cause Nazi Rift

Installment 3

(Day after day Werner Bross, German lawyer and counsel to Dr. Goebbels, told down his famous client's version of events from dictation in the prison. In previous installments, he reported that Goebbels retained his cockiness despite imprisonment, gave an explanation of the German failure to invade England, and revealed a hitherto unknown attempt to make peace. Today he sets down Goebbels' own words on the Nazi persecutions of the Jews.)

THE VERY FIRST TIME I

interviewed Goebbels in the Nuremberg prison, he asked me if I were not afraid of the crowd in the court. I wanted to know why.

"Doesn't it frighten you to look at all those Jews?" he went on. "Why, they might start a program against the Gentiles at any moment!" And he roared with laughter at his own joke.

Like most of the Nazis, he seemed to be convinced that Jews were responsible for the Nuremberg trials. Yet Goebbels depicted himself, personally, as never having succumbed to the anti-Jewish mania, for which he named Goebbels as having been chiefly responsible.

He said that on many occasions he had restrained Goebbels, that he had given personal protection to some Jews, and that he had taken no stock in the stories of the extermination of Jews in the concentration camps.

He himself, he told me, had never spoken of the Herrenvolk or Herrenrasse (the master people and the master race) nor was that conception a part of pure Nazi doctrine.

"There's no mention of a master race in the platform of the National Socialist Party," he argued. "No one can prove that I personally ever used phrases like 'master people,' 'master race,' or 'superman' in any of my speeches. That doesn't fit in with my ideas."

"What I say is, either you are a master—and then why do you have to talk about it?—or you aren't, and that's that. True, part of the party—the SS stood up for it very strongly—did put forward the master theory later. But you won't find it in the party platform!"

I read him clauses 4 and 5 of the official platform of the National Socialist Party:

"4. Only those who are our countrymen shall be citizens of our state. Only those who are of German blood can be considered as our countrymen regardless of creed. Hence no Jew can be regarded as a fellow-countryman."

"5. Those who are not citizens of the state must live in Germany as foreigners and must be subject to the law of aliens."

"You see," Goebbels said, "you don't get any illegal measures on that basis." (N.B.: Legal niceties of this sort were standard practice in the Nazi political technique.)

Row With Wee Joey

I BROUGHT TO the Nuremberg laws of 1935.

I had to promulgate them because I was President of the Reichstag," Goebbels said, "but there wasn't anything about persecution of the Jews in any laws for which I was responsible."

To buttress this rather astonishing statement, Goebbels added that he had reacted violently against the pogrom of November 9-10, 1938, which followed the assassination in Paris of German Embassy Councillor von Rath by the Jewish refugee, Herschel Grynszpan. Goebbels had been in Munich until the evening of Nov. 9, he said, and knew nothing of the pogrom in advance.

Back in Berlin, he was awakened in the middle of the night by his aide-de-camp, who pointed out to him the glow in the sky from a great fire.

"But I still didn't know what it was. When I drove through Berlin to my office very early next morning, I saw the mess. I flew into a towering rage and got into violent arguments with a number of gentlemen, beginning with Dr. Goebbels."

"At noon on Nov. 11, Goebbels complained to the Fuehrer about my clash with him—he really squealed while they were lunching together. It was true enough. I had given him a piece of my mind."

"In the afternoon I had a note from the Fuehrer asking me to call. He tried to smooth out the differences between me and Goebbels, who was also present. He always tried to patch up quarrels among his collaborators."

"I must stress," Goebbels said to me, "that foreign countries continued their relations with Germany in spite of the events of the night of the 9-10 Nov., 1938—except the United States, who withdrew her ambassador for an indefinite period."

Language Too Strong

I HAD BROUGHT TO Goebbels a copy of the prosecution document No. 1816, a shorthand transcript of the meeting held Nov. 12, after Hitler's attempt to reconcile Goebbels and Goebbels. Goebbels had explained that this meeting was called on his initiative, with the purpose of applying the brakes on Goebbels' anti-Jewish measures. But when he read the minutes of the meeting, he broke out laughing, and finally said, "We'd better not refer to this. The language is a little too strong."

He read out with relish the account of an argument with Goebbels, who wanted to rule that Jews should have no places on the trains until all Germans had been taken care of, while Goebbels advocated a separate car or separate compartments for Jews.

When Goebbels objected that in that case it might happen that two Jews would have a whole compartment to themselves, while the rest of the train would be crowded with Germans, Goebbels answered:

"If that ever happened, believe me, we wouldn't need a law to solve that problem. The Jews would just be kicked out, even if they had to spend the rest of the trip in the toilet."

Goebbels also read that he had objected to the destruction of Jewish shops, because the Jews were usually only tenants and it was the Aryan landlords who suffered loss when they were broken up. To make it worse the broken glass of the shop windows had to be imported from abroad and paid for with foreign currency.

But while objecting to such acts, he expressed himself in favor of fining the Jews a billion marks for the von Rath murder, adding: "I wouldn't like to be a Jew in Germany."

"I certainly was a lively meeting," he commented, handing the report back to me.

Goebbels denied that he had favored even partial extermination of Jews and insisted that he didn't realize what was happening to them.

Gassing The Jews

"I WAS TOLD ONCE," he said, "that during the transportation of Jews to the east many of them had died. I complained to Himmler about it and he assured me that everything possible was done to prevent such incidents."

"In 1943, I heard of a great mass shooting," Goebbels continued. "The number involved was said to run into hundreds of thousands. Two or three hundred, perhaps a thousand, I might have believed. But this gigantic number seemed to me completely unlikely. I said to the man who told me about it, 'Mein Herr, you mustn't listen to so many foreign broadcasts. It doesn't agree with you!'"

"Once I heard Jews had been gassed in a railway car," Goebbels added, "I was most indignant, but Himmler told me no one had ever been killed in that way. Strictly speaking, it was the truth. Jews were being gassed not in railway cars."

At this point I told Goebbels how, while serving on the eastern front, I had heard rumors of Jewish executions three times myself. "If I, a non-commissioned officer, could hear of such cases," I said, "it must be presumed that you, in your position, would have heard more of them, and sooner."

"Not at all," Goebbels said. "That's just it. When you heard of those cases, why didn't you report them to your superiors?"

Return To School In Antiquated Car

Harvey Richardson of 2770 Thorpe Place, who with James Duprau, 3333 Glasgow Avenue, Dean Corke, 3375 Quadra Street, and three other youths from Vancouver, drove this summer to Los Angeles, Calif., in a 1915 bus, purchased two years ago for $50, is back attending classes at the University of B.C. along with his fellow travelers.

The bus, however, is sitting in a Los Angeles used-car lot, waiting for a buyer.

The boys left here with the intention of going to the Wisconsin State Centennial Exposition and entering their vehicle in an antique automobile contest. From there, they hoped to drive across the country to New York.

Engine trouble and numerous blowouts put the boys behind schedule so they finally decided to head for California. In all, they had 40 flat tires and blowouts before arriving at their southern destination.

The trip down took 22 days.

Cowichan Clubs Hear Report On Labor Festivals

LAKE COWICHAN—Delegates from various Lake Cowichan lodges and auxiliaries were given a tentative report on the Labor Day sports at the union organizations meeting held in the community hall here. Ralph Godfrey, president, reported the sale of tickets for the Lady of the Lake were considerably less than last year.

Mrs. W. A. Chappell, representing the Canadian Legion Auxiliary, who had charge of ladies' nail driving contest, stated 40 entered the contest. She was able to provide for only 24. From opinions gathered on Labor Day, she suggested more events be arranged for women next year.

Mrs. Fred Wilson, I.W.A. Auxiliary, suggested more money be available next year for parade prizes for the children.

Next year a prize will be donated for the "saw-filer" in logging sports. This is customary, but in the past two years a prize was not awarded.

Income for the day showed $1,206, proceeds from sale of tickets, cash donations and gross proceeds of dance.

Expenditures amounted to $860.79, bulk of which was given in prizes for events, tombola prize, Victoria boys' band donation and Lady of Lake candidates.

Cash donations, scripts and prizes were donated by Lake Cowichan district businesses and organizations, and from Duncan and Vancouver firms.

Pearkes To Nominate Diefenbaker To Lead Conservative Party

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, Nanaimo M.P., said today that if the selection of the new Progressive Conservative leader were put to a popular vote of the party there was no doubt that John Diefenbaker would be elected.

"I hope the delegates are sufficiently in touch with the popular feeling," he said. "If they are, there will be no doubt that Mr. Diefenbaker will be elected."

Gen. Pearkes will nominate Mr. Diefenbaker at the national convention of the Progressive Conservative Party which will open in Ottawa Thursday of next week. The battle for the post held by John Bracken seems, at the present time, to be shaping up between Mr. Diefenbaker and Premier George Drew of Ontario.

"Mr. Diefenbaker has a greater popular appeal than any other candidate," said Mr. Pearkes. "He has proved his worth in the House of Commons and there are a great many people who have had no particular political affiliation who have had great confidence in him in the past."

Gen. Pearkes said he believed it would be easier for the Progressive Conservatives to win the federal general election under the leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker than any other man. In western Canada the popular feeling for Mr. Diefenbaker was certainly greater than for any other person.

Gen. Pearkes will leave Victoria Thursday for convention.

Oak Bay To Test New Leaf Machine

A new machine, designed to suck up leaves from the ground through large pipes, will be given a test run in Oak Bay in about three weeks' time, according to A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer.

The machine, now under construction by Norton Engineering Works, 2040 Cadboro Bay Road, will cost an estimated $2,600. If the machine is successful, Oak Bay will be the first municipality in western Canada to own such a machine, according to Mr. Musgrave.

Navy Opens Way To University, Higher

OTTAWA—First man from the lower deck to seek a university education under the Royal Canadian Navy's recently inaugurated Naval University Training Program, armorer 2nd class George T. Mainer of Vancouver and Oliver, enrolled at the University of British Columbia Sept. 15 for a four-year course in mechanical engineering.

Mainer will have two targets at which to shoot: One a university degree, the other a commission in the R.C.N. Men attending university under this scheme are commissioned, on graduation, as sub-lieutenants. After receiving further training with the navy in the particular branches in which they specialize, they are promoted to lieutenant's rank, and are eligible for further promotion in normal fashion.

While at university, Mainer's tuition fees will be paid by the naval service and he will continue to receive his pay and allowances as a petty officer.

When he entered the navy in September, 1940, Mainer had completed two years of high school. He obtained the necessary qualifications for entrance into university by taking D.V.A.

Pearson Believes War Risk Greater Today Than Ever

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—Lester G. (Mike) Pearson, newly-appointed Minister of External Affairs, declared Tuesday night that the risk of an outbreak of war is greater now than at any other time since the Second World War ended.

In his first public address since his appointment last week, he told the Ontario Municipal Association's civic dinner that his opinion was based on a "sober appreciation" of current facts and trends.

War was by no means inevitable. But it might break out at any time.

"The extent of this risk is incalculable, but its existence cannot be denied," he told the 30 delegates attending the O.M.A.'s 50th annual convention.

"You would not wish me to preach a doctrine of sweetness and light when I do not feel that way. Nor, on the other hand, do I feel that we need fall into despair and assume nothing can be done to save the situation. There is nothing inevitable in relations between states."

Whittle Says Airlines To Use Jets Inside Five Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—Aviation authorities today had a forecast that jet propelled commercial airlines will be in use in five years.

It came from Sir Frank Whittle, 44-year-old inventor of British jet planes and the world's foremost authority on jet propulsion.

Speaking Tuesday night at the closing banquet of the Northwest Aviation Planning Council convention here, he said:

"No airline company can afford to neglect the gas turbine. They should plan to go over to airplanes with propeller gas turbines within the next five years."

He said straight jet propulsion would be developed at a later stage. Use of the gas turbine system would provide greater speed, greater safety and greater comfort at both reduced capital and operating costs.

He termed the present piston gasoline engine "a very crude piece of apparatus" compared with jet propulsion.

Plane Search To Continue Though Best Clue Blows Up

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Group Capt. Z. L. Leigh, R.C.A.F. officer in charge of an international force searching for a missing United States navy plane with five men aboard, today promised that the search, now in its 10th day, would be continued without a let-up even though the most promising clue to the aircraft's fate has proved groundless.

Slim hope exists that the five men may still be alive, living on wild game and the few berries offered by northern Manitoba's trackless wilds.

Fears for their safety grew Tuesday after an investigation which eliminated what search officials thought was the best clue yet to the plane's whereabouts since it left Churchill for The Pas, 450 miles to the southwest, Sept. 12.

An Indian, Johnny Whitford, told villagers of Skownan, 100 miles southeast of here, he had seen a plane in trouble on the day the navy plane disappeared. Sqn. Ldr. Jack Hone of the R.C.A.F. reserve, a veteran bush pilot, flew in to question Whitford.

Whitford said he had seen the plane at 4.10 p.m., but R.C.A.F. officials, in washing out this report, said the Beechcraft could not have remained aloft so long, considering its fuel capacity.

Discuss Bernadotte Slaying

Swedish Ambassador Earl Westman confers with Trygve Lie, U.N. Secretary-General, at the special session of the U.N. Security Council held in Paris to determine what action should be taken as a result of the assassination of its Palestine mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte. France proposed at the meeting the international control of Jerusalem as originally recommended in the partition plan. (N.E.A. Radiotelephoto.)

Hurricane Roaring Through Everglades; 2 Dead So Far

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A tricky tropical hurricane swirled through the Florida Everglades early today and headed for the heart of the state's rich citrus belt.

Two persons were killed and many injured, mostly by flying glass or debris. Winds reached 160 miles an hour in gusts at Key West. Highest winds on the Florida mainland were an estimated 125 miles an hour at Everglades City.

Hurricane winds—75 miles an hour and upward—thrashed Miami and the lush resort area on the lower east coast as the "eye" of the storm bobbed across the Everglades, 50 miles to the west.

However, the United States weather bureau said early today "the worst is over" in that area.

Moving north northeast at eight miles an hour, the storm headed for the citrus region in central Florida, where millions of trees are heavy with ripening fruit.

Winds increased in central Florida and the storm's present course would split the state in a north-northeasterly direction from Everglades City to Daytona Beach, reaching the Atlantic coast late today.

Labor Council Urges Minister Resign

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution urging that Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald be removed from his post in the provincial cabinet was adopted Tuesday night by the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council.

The statement charged Mr. MacDonald with "irresponsible remarks and poor judgment" at the recent Union of British Columbia Municipalities convention. The council said the minister told U.B.C.M. delegates that wage awards to municipal employees should not be met if they were handed down after the municipality's budget was adopted.

The T.L.C. contended this was a departure from the government policy, and from the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

Sweden Prepares Martyr's Funeral

Plan Appeal To King To Save Seeing-Eye Dog

FRESTON, Suffolk, Eng. (CP)—Every dog-lover in Britain has his eyes turned today on the rectory in this little village, where Bruce, an 18-month-old Alsatian dog, is under sentence of death.

In a last-ditch fight to save the pet's life, his owner, Rev. Henry Mayne-Young, 73-year-old rector of Freston, says he plans to appeal directly to the King for a reprieve.

Magistrates ruled last July that Bruce must be destroyed after neighbors had testified that he had torn the clothes of four men and killed a chicken. Mr. Mayne-Young protested that the dog acted as the "eyes" of his 79-year-old wife, who is blind, but the decision stood.

The case was widely publicized and dog-lovers all over the country raised a fund of nearly £400 ($1,600) to fight for an appeal.

A few days ago new hope came to the rectory with a telegram from the officer commanding the army veterinary and remount unit at Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire:

"I can guarantee Bruce a job. We need such dogs in the army."

The rector said Tuesday night: "I shall beg the King to let Bruce follow in the footsteps of his father, who had a distinguished army career in the last war as a guard dog."

He planned to forward the appeal today.

NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS

PRESENT DAY UNCERTAINTIES IN international relations form a sombre background for this year's national Army Week in Canada, and give an urgency to the call for recruits that would be lacking in more peaceful times. Addressed to young cadets now beginning their careers in Army, Navy or Air Force at Kingston and Royal Roads, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton's words, "war is not inevitable, but neither is peace certain," contain a terse summing up of the situation, as well as a challenge. This uneasiness as to what the future may hold is seen in all the countries of the world. Britain has extended her term of military service and is planning to refit 100 of her warships. Defence appropriations are receiving prior attention in most countries, and the western European nations are giving close study to proposals for joint military security. The United States has embarked on the greatest peacetime armament budget in its history. From behind the Iron Curtain come hints of vast standing armies and great aircraft and munitions production. The race appears to be on, and he who remains unprepared will at least not have been unwarned.

It was such developments, Mr. Claxton said in a recent speech in the House of Commons, that have "produced an attitude in Canada towards defence which is quite different from any that we have had before in peacetime." And he continued:

"Of one thing I am sure, and that is the determination of the Canadian people to defend our country against any attack. That is the view of all Canadians except Communists. National defence is not the exclusive concern of the sailor, the soldier or the airman, but has become a matter of major national interest as well as of government policy."

Canadians need no explanation at this late date of the reason for the changed national viewpoint on defence. The Second World War gave merely a hint of it as German submarines laid mines off the port of Halifax, Japanese raiders menaced the Pacific Coast, and a widespread net of volunteer aircraft observers from the United States border to the far north kept an eye on all planes crossing the shores of the Dominion. But air transport has made giant strides since those comparatively recent days. The Atlantic and the Pacific have become routine hops for fighters as well as bombers. Intensified study of cold-weather fighting on the ground and in the air of the far north has turned civilian eyes to the polar regions as a new military frontier. This country might well become the centre of any future global conflict, and, in any case, her importance as a point of origin for attack would ensure her equal importance as a target.

It is for these reasons that Canada is engaging in continuous talks with Britain and the United States for integration of their offensive and defensive weapons. It is for these reasons, too, that the recently-appointed Industrial Defence Board of Canada is drawing up a complete plan for the co-ordination of civilian production and military requirements. It is for these reasons that our national defence appropriations and commitments for 1948-49 total $232,408,240. In this connection, Mr. Claxton has said:

"The prime purpose of the external policy of a nation which is not aggressive is to ensure the preservation of our peace and our freedom by peaceful measures and thus make the use of defence forces unnecessary."

"It follows that as external prospects darken, defence forces have to be increased. They have to be increased in order to make it clear that, if war breaks out, our side will win."

Such thoughts bring a new immediacy to Army Week—a new seriousness that this country has not known before. But while defence weapons may prevent the violation of a country's borders, they cannot prevent the heavy destruction of life and property that marks modern warfare. The only defence against that lies in the prevention of war—an objective for the achievement of which we have created the United Nations organization. How closely the success or failure of that body affects the individual lives of Canadians, therefore, needs no further emphasis. It must succeed.

CONSOLIDATING PHILOSOPHIES

BY THE TIME THIS IS READ ADHER-ents to the United Church of Canada will have learned that Rev. Willard E. Brewing is to succeed Rt. Rev. T. W. Jones as their Moderator for the next two years. It may be assumed that the successful aspirant to this important office in one of Canada's most influential nonconformist religious bodies is possessed of a similar wealth of experience and breadth of vision to that which has enabled his predecessor to exercise so great an influence.

When he was in Victoria last Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Jones, drawing upon his profound wisdom, was bold in his inference that much good service might be rendered to those basic beliefs which the average individual calls religion, if that agglomeration of bodies constituting the United Church of Canada could discover some practical means whereby an alliance could be established with the Anglican Church. As if to solidify the basic point in his argument, Dr. Jones subscribed to a potent thesis when he said that, "while there may be differences, there are many more fundamentals on which we (the United Church and the Anglican Church) both agree."

Many of us in this community, as in the case of those elsewhere, will recall the proceedings which resulted in the amalgamation of several nonconformist bodies in this country—how bitter were the controversies that undermined numerous lifelong friendships between those who composed memberships of the several sects trying to find ways and means for consolidation. These incidents will be remembered at this juncture, because until those branches of the church, whose principles and practices permit their communicants to think and act for themselves, recognize the urgent necessity for plain talk, the visible schism in their own ranks will widen. Thus there is presented to them now a good opportunity for greater service to Christianity.

What Moderator Jones said in Victoria last Sunday, therefore, obviously takes on new significance in view of the fact that the present state of affairs in the world constitutes a diabolical threat to those leaders whose aim and object in life should be the instruction of the present and rising generations in the principles reflected by that simple Sermon on the Mount.

'AN EXCELLENT CHOICE

WHILE DR. HERBERT V. EVATT, AU-stralia's Deputy Prime Minister, has made a name for himself in the field of international affairs as well as in the public life of his country as one who says what he thinks when he thinks it, it does not necessarily follow that his choice as president of the third session of the United Nations General Assembly will be marked by an over-zealous manifestation of his rugged views on what is right and wrong in the world today. As the presiding officer at what may turn out to be one of the most crucial meetings of the representatives of the 58 nations which compose this embryo Parliament of Man, protocol may at times cramp his style; but his keen judicial mind will provide him with a reservoir upon which to draw to advantage if certain elements—to employ the vernacular—"get tough."

Down at the San Francisco Conference in the spring of 1945—and, of course, at subsequent gatherings of United Nations' subsidiary bodies—the Australian Deputy Prime Minister has championed the cause of the "middle nations" with that fearlessness which all the delegates to the city by the Golden Gate associated with him. Nor is there anything surprising in that; for Rt. Hon. Herbert Vere Evatt is a man of many parts—not to mention his achievements in the realm of jurisprudence. His monographs on history and political science and constitutional law, for instance, have won him high commendation far and wide. He may, therefore, be counted upon to use such discretion as his office may permit to prevent the General Assembly's deliberations, which began yesterday, from running ragged.

BUDGET FOR THE CHEST

TWO WEEKS FROM TODAY CAN-vassers for Greater Victoria's Community Chest campaign will have begun their rounds of residences and business premises. This year's objective is $180,000. That figure is almost twice as much as was collected in 1947. But unless it is reached, many vital services furnished by 19 agencies will have to be drastically curtailed.

The main appeal in the approaching drive will be directed at the goodness of heart of this district's residents. They are asked to assist those who need help and who, without help, cannot aspire to the enjoyment of life that should be their due. It is an appeal which asks assistance for the blind, for young children whose circumstances preclude their normal and happy development unless they are given a helping hand. It is an appeal to assist the distressed to rehabilitate themselves, to bring strength and confidence to the weak and insecure, to make the road through life less cruel for the afflicted, and to safeguard the young from the distortions that spring from lack of normal opportunities.

The story of the Community Chest is the human story. It deals with the succor given to those who suffer from the faults of others. It is based on the application of Christian principles.

Last year Greater Victoria failed to shoulder the responsibility placed upon it to support the agencies that carry on the constructive work included in the Community Chest program. It cannot afford to lag in 1948. And, because the Chest must have almost twice as much as was given last year, citizens are urged to draft their budgets now on lines that will enable them to make provision for requirements.

THE BURDEN OF EASE

THE DANGERS OF MODERN LIVING are nowhere better illustrated than in the builders' mistake that occurred in a housing project in England. Wishing to make the homes fully up to date, the contractors were instructed to put the new "one-way" glass in the bathroom windows. They did, but they put it in the wrong way, with the result that shower bath users, who thought they were safely protected by a sheet of ground glass, were quite otherwise. But in how many other cases are today's dwellers the victims of modern improvements? Designed to make life easier, the "improvements" can also embarrass or injure. We have augmented a thousand-fold the things that should make our existence more pleasurable and convenient than that of our ancestors. But—and we sometimes forget it—we have similarly increased our responsibilities to see that the gadgets work.

Awaiting 'New Dewey'

By PETER EDSON from Washington
TO SAY THAT THE UNITED STATES waits with bated breath for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to open his campaign for the presidency is putting it mildly. The build-up on "the New Dewey" has been terrific. Warren, Vandenberg, Martin, Taft, Lodge, Eisenhower, Dulles, Stassen and other G.O.P. big shots have been pawing and pawing almost constantly since the Philadelphia convention. These are the men who have been replying to Truman whenever he stuck his neck out. But Dewey himself has stayed strictly in the background on the strong and silent side. In fact, a careful run-through of the record since Philly shows that Governor Dewey has publicly given us the benefits of his wisdom only half a dozen times.

HE WAS FOR MORE AID TO CHINA on June 25. He was for the bipartisan foreign policy on June 29, but he crossed his fingers and said the G.O.P. would not be bound by policies on which it had not been consulted by the administration. On June 30 he was for the $65,000,000 loan to build the United Nations headquarters.

On July 13 he was for liberalization of the displaced persons' law. Ten days later he agreed with General Eisenhower that the United States must stand firm in Berlin. On Aug. 18 he favored giving the Italian colonies back to Italy under U.N. trusteeship.

IT IS INTERESTING TO NOTE that all these matters concern foreign policy. A cynic might conclude that the governor was running not for President of the U.S. but for President of the world.

Nowhere can you find Dewey's latest views on farm prices, the high cost of living, housing, rent control extension, labor relations, public power, the T.V.A., allocation of scarce materials, aid to education, Civil Rights, Henry Wallace, or any of the other homely, domestic issues that are first concern of the American people.

THIS RECORD IS RECITED not to be critical of Mr. Dewey. It is merely an expression of eager impatience to hear what the man has to say for himself on domestic issues. The suspense is awful—just waiting for the new Dewey to unveil and give with his constructive program to save the country from the ravages of Communism and Truman.

As a basis for comparison with what the 1944 model Dewey stood for, it is worth while running back over a check list of some of the 18 major speeches he made in that campaign.

HE OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA right after Labor Day, calling the New Deal inept and inefficient. He said the administration had been saved by the war and that it planned to keep millions in the army because that was cheaper than taking care of them as unemployed.

At Louisville he came out for an international police force, and said the Washington wasters wanted to set up an international W.P.A. At Des Moines he said the Democratic administration had made no plans for the war and had no plans for the peace. At Seattle he praised the Wagner Act as a good and necessary law and called for a stronger Labor Department. At Portland he assailed the "indispensable man."

AT SAN FRANCISCO in his major speech he said the U.S. was not going back to the days of unregulated business and unprotected farm prices. Whether we liked it or not, he said, government was committed to economic direction. At Los Angeles he came out for extension of social security. At Oklahoma City he was for lower taxes. At Charleston, W. Va., he criticized the administration for harboring Communists. At St. Louis he came out for a free Zionist state.

In his major foreign policy speech at New York he accused the administration of not sending proper aid to Italy, of having no plan for Germany, of not getting recognition for free Poland, and of failing to recognize de Gaulle because of Roosevelt's personal dislike. In Pittsburgh he scored Roosevelt for turning labor bargaining to political advantage. At Chicago he accused Roosevelt of selling special privileges to members of the One Thousand (dollar) Club.

AT SYRACUSE he pledged farmers freedom from government dictation. At Buffalo he said Roosevelt's promise of 60,000,000 jobs was worthless. At Baltimore and Scranton he said the Communies were trying to capture the Democratic Party. In his final campaign speech at Madison Square Garden he accused Roosevelt of having prolonged the war by incompetence.

How different from the above, do you suppose, will be the new streamlined, high-powered executive of 1948?

Quoting

I had no youth. I went to work when I was nine and I never got a chance to enjoy myself until I came to the Senate.—Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.)

There is a general belief that war is ultimately inevitable. If it doesn't come now it is because neither side feels ready as yet.—Famón de Valera, former Premier of Eire.

Let me warn you that if in the measurable future we don't find some way of eliminating these wars, our grandchildren are going to find this world a most unhappy place in which to live.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, U.S.A.

Every housewife who goes to the meat market and grocery store knows what is going on. Surely Congress cannot remain oblivious to these hard facts.—Philip Murray, president, C.I.O., speaking on the high cost of living.

SERVED A CAUSE

The Canadian Anti-vivisection Society, Victoria, B.C., deeply regrets to learn of the passing of a faithful member, Mrs. Richard Henderson. Both Mrs. Henderson and her late husband were staunch supporters of the cause, and their influence is greatly missed.—DORA KITTO, Hon. Sec. C.A.V.S., 608 Scollard Building.

LEAGUE OF ROSES

I wish to extend thanks to you for the valuable assistance given by allowing us space in the Daily Times with a view to formation of the "League of Roses."

It would have been impossible to contact all the Lancashire and Yorkshire people without your help. So I again say thank you. The League of Roses has now been formed and the membership is close to 100 (one hundred), with applications for membership still coming in. In view of the great interest being shown in its formation, I anticipate that the "League of Roses" will be one of the largest organizations in Victoria and Canada.

Intending members are requested to send in the names and addresses to the secretary Mrs. T. H. Fletcher, 470 Dupplin, or to the chairman of membership, Mr. A. Hickford, 569 Michigan Street.

REG. CLARKE, SR., President.

OUR INNER HARBOR

Victoria is a lovely place which all yachtmen enjoy as well as those who are fortunate enough to be able to travel on the "Princess" or the "Chinook," but the water in front of the Empress Hotel is in such a filthy condition from fuel oil and waste that a severe scrubbing and a coat of paint is required to restore respectability after leaving.

Surveying The Situation

From Public Opinion, London

"IF THERE IS ANY CAUSE for optimism," says the "London Spectator," "it springs not from a likelihood that Mr. Molotov will shortly begin to make concessions, but from the fact that the Western Powers are now going about their task in a businesslike manner and are already beginning to see the result of their realism and patience which, in recent months, have taken the place of irritability and irrational hope."

GOOD RESULTS

"The good results are not confined to Berlin," adds the Spectator. "The introduction of currency reform has been so successful in promoting stability and productivity that the Russians have been forced into new efforts to reverse it and cover up the increasingly marked contrast with the poverty and growing disorder in the Eastern zone."

"First came the rumor that the reforms would be retarded, and then the appearance in Red Star and New Times of attacks on the proposed new regime broke the propaganda truce for the first time since the Moscow talks began. But these signs of Russian displeasure do not mean that the real situation has grown worse."

HOPEFUL BUT HARD

"The road which lies ahead may be a little more hopeful than it was, but it remains hard. Even though the Western Powers may feel that time is, at last, on their side—because, at last, they are now making good use of it—it is not easy to maintain the patience which is necessary in order to reach a firm understanding with Mr. Molotov."

"Even though the position of the Western Powers has grown stronger in Germany and the Russian position in Eastern Europe has grown weaker, it still goes against the grain for governments whose only ultimate aim is a frank and friendly understanding with Mr. Molotov."

BUSINESSLIKE BASIS

"There is, of course, no objection to correct economic relations between the Soviet Union and the rest of the world, but there is every reason why those relations should be on a hard and businesslike basis."

"The Western Powers need a little time if they are to demonstrate that they have the true key to peace and prosperity, and during that time mischief must be held at bay."

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

THAT'S AN INTERESTING though not particularly adroit exhibition of the old shell game given by Russia in announcing she will withdraw her troops from northern Korea by the new year, and calling on the United States to pull out of the south.

On the face of it this is a big-hearted gesture of amity. However, we may be sure that if American troops did withdraw from southern Korea, the Russians would move to take over.

This isn't to say that the United States might not decide to withdraw. There are two schools of thought on this subject. One holds it would be a strategic error to pull out. The other maintains it's a mistake to stay since there is such a thing as spreading your strength too thin, and furthermore the United States has military forces in neighboring Japan.

WILL RUSSIA LEAVE?

Whether Russia will indeed withdraw if the United States does not, remains to be seen. They might pull back across the frontier into Manchuria in any event. And why not? Northern Korea has been thoroughly communized. It's an open secret that the country is overrun with the armed secret police which spearhead the setting up of any Soviet regime.

Moreover, the Russians have organized and equipped a big Korean army in their northern zone and, judging from past events, we may be sure this force is heavily officered by Russians. Thus, even if they did pull back into Manchuria, there still would remain a big "Korean" force of soldiers and police which could be used to invade southern Korea with the idea of overthrowing the new republic there.

STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE

Korea is small, but strategically she is a mighty atom. For centuries the Korean Peninsula, which projects down between the Sea of Japan and the Yellow Sea from Manchuria and Siberia, stood between Japan and her continental ambitions. Certainly Korea enters into the picture of the great new Red offensive to overrun the Orient.

LOOKING FORWARD

Ottawa Journal
Opportunity in Canada in the years ahead lies quite as much with the skilled artisan or technician as with the university graduate. Rewards of the highly-skilled trades even at the present time are often greater than those of the learned professions. It is quite possible that Canadian universities may be forced to be even more rigid in their entrance requirements than they are at the present time, and to steer prospective students from the academic to the practical field.

SCAB LABOR

Windsor Star
Electrical Workers' Union in New Zealand is suing an Auckland firm because it used a ferret to pull 600 feet of wire through a conduit, thereby depriving union members of weeks of work. The suit, in effect, claims the ferret is an unregistered worker, was paid insufficient wages, and was under age. Instead of getting involved in all this litigious argument, it might be simpler for the union to unionize all New Zealand ferrets and teach them the principles of strikes, picketing and working conditions. No ferret should have to pull wire through a 600-foot conduit, allowing himself to be used as scab labor.

NEW DICTIONARY

Winnipeg Free Press
George Bernard Shaw thinks that peace will not be secure in the world until a new political dictionary is written so that everyone can use the same words for the same things and understand what the word means.

This would be all right if people could ever be brought to agree on what a political action or event meant. But, as the Manchester Guardian points out, an act of aggression to one power means a "good neighbor" policy, whereas if another power did the same thing it would be "fascist imperialism."

What we in the western world call a "police state" is a "people's republic" to the Communist countries. Similarly a rebel is either a "reactionary bad dog" or a "people's patriot," depending on the color of one's political spectacles.

Mr. Shaw overlooks the fact that political beliefs tend to change or distort the meaning of words and the printing of a new dictionary will hardly change political beliefs.

Housing Shortage In Australia Too

Australia, like Canada, has a housing shortage, Cyril Henshaw, Melbourne, Australia, said here Tuesday in an address to the Y's Men's Club.

He said that radio stations and newspapers carried bulletins on the progress of coal-carrying ships en route to Melbourne so great was the interest of the people in learning when they would be able to get a ton or two.

The down-under continent could support a population of 20,000,000 in Mr. Henshaw's opinion. He added that Australia was bringing in displaced persons from Europe for work in industries.

Mr. Henshaw has been in North America attending the international convention of Y's Men's Clubs at Long Beach, Calif.

Highest Male Voice To Be Heard At Met

ROME (AP)—Conductor Tullio Serafin of the Metropolitan Opera House has announced discovery of the "highest range male voice the operatic world has known in over 100 years."

His discovery is John Brooks McCormack, 32, of Asheville, N.C., whose vocal range extends to the high "A" above high "C."

Serafin, for 12 seasons the Metropolitan's ranking Italian opera conductor, said he would revive Vincenzo Bellini's almost forgotten "I Puritani" (the Puritans) for McCormack, probably around Jan. 10.

"I Puritani," said Serafin, "was abandoned mostly because of the lack of a tenor voice whose range could meet the opera's exacting vocal demands."

'All Canada Watches College Here'

Opening exercises of Victoria College night courses were held Tuesday at the Richmond Road campus but further registrations will be accepted. In the picture are students who have enrolled in the psychology course to be given by Prof. William H. Gaddes of the College faculty. Picture was taken in the new theatre-style lecture room built this summer.

"All the other universities throughout the Dominion are watching us," said J. B. Clearhue, K.C., president of the Victoria College council, at the opening exercises Tuesday night of the evening division of the U.B.C. affiliated local institution.

Mr. Clearhue said the evening division was a new venture in the field of higher education, and "if our plan is a success, it will pave the way to bring similar opportunities to many other students in other sections of the land."

Ninety-three students have registered for the night courses which carry full university credits. Enrollments will be accepted until the end of the month.

The students were addressed by Dr. J. M. Ewing, college principal, and others who urged them to retain their enthusiasm throughout the term.

Dr. Ewing described the opening of the night division as a really historic occasion.

Prof. J. A. Cunningham, vice-principal, warned that hard work was in store for the students if they were to get university credit from the courses.

Dr. Austin L. Wells who returned recently from a summer teaching appointment at University of San Carlos, Guatemala, will instruct in beginners' Spanish at the College night course.

He hoped the session would lead to a more extensive series of night lectures at Victoria College.

Prof. Robert T. D. Wallace

outlined the college rules and procedure and William Lewis, president of the Alma Mater Society, told students of their rights and privileges as members of Victoria College.

LECTURERS INTRODUCED

Professors of the night classes were introduced. Among them was Dr. Austin L. Wells, who will give lectures on beginners' Spanish. Dr. Wells is expected to have one of the larger classes. He recently returned from University of San Carlos at Guatemala, Central America, where he taught during the summer months.

Other highly-qualified lecturers for the night classes include William H. Gaddes, psychology; Roger J. Bishop, English; Anthony P. Dawson, economics; Dr. W. Harry Hickman, French.

Further registrations will be accepted on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7, the nights on which lectures are given. Students need not enroll for university credit. They can pay half the $40 fee and register as auditors which allows them to take the full courses.

The courses will continue until late in April next year.

Purely Economic Laws Unlikely To Govern World For Some Time

By FORBES RHUDE

A glance at current headlines indicates how unlikely it is that the world will settle down soon into any condition which might be governed by purely economic laws.

Right now the emphasis is on more rearmament, and it was the start of the rearmament programs last spring which put the high speed into present activity. To predict a substantial slow down now is almost like predicting one in wartime.

It is difficult to see how even the most optimistic developments could cool things off for some time to come. The world is taut from Moscow to Washington, is only beginning to be aware of the problems developing in Asia, and is hurt deeply by the troubles of Palestine.

In the meantime people wrestle over the problems of trade, foreign exchange, a new car and their daily bread and seem to be making some progress. Dividend payments by Canadian corporations in September are the highest for any corresponding month in years.

STOCK MARKETS TUESDAY

New York managed a recovery Tuesday which wiped out almost half of Monday's losses, and Canadian exchanges also firmed towards the close in dull trading. September corn gained its eight-cent limit in Chicago with other grains generally off. Winnipeg had an easier tone. New York cotton was 15 cents to $1.35 a bale higher.

Long-Term Planning Urged To Develop Scottish Highlands

LONDON (CP)—Across gruff Whitehall arguments about nationalization of steel and powers of the Lords cut the soft highland voice of Malcolm K. Macmillan pleading for his people. He is Labor member of Parliament for the Western Isles.

A thoughtful, 31-year-old man, Macmillan is non-party in his lament for the lone shielling and the misty isles. He says neither Labor nor any other government ever had a plan for the highlands of Scotland or the Western Isles, where liners formerly called to take whole communities to new homes in Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Macmillan's appeal is given urgency by the resumption of emigration to Canada and other overseas territories. The highlander now has the opportunity to follow countless relatives.

Macmillan, supported by other highland members, wants the government to begin implementation of long-term planning at once. He wants to make northern and western Scotland more prosperous and attractive to young people and more rewarding to those who work hard.

Macmillan thinks his colleagues should consider:

1. The existing population of

'Red Dean' Accepts Second Invitation For Visit To U.S.

LONDON (AP)—Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, often called the "Red Dean" of Canterbury, says he will accept the invitation of 93 prominent Americans to visit the United States if he can obtain a visa.

Dr. Johnson was refused a visa by the United States last month after he had accepted an invitation from the National Council of the American-Soviet Friendship Society for a lecture tour. The visa was refused because of the leftist nature of the council.

He said the second invitation had come from a committee of bishops, college presidents, authors and educationists disturbed by the "abridgement of the American tradition of free and open discussion" involved in his exclusion.

In Washington, the State Department said Dean Johnson must apply for a passport visa before there is a new ruling on whether he can enter the United States.

Press Officer Michael J. McDermott said the United States consul to whom the dean makes an application will have to decide whether it is to be granted. No ruling will be made in advance.

REGINA (CP) — The world-famed R.C.M.P. musical ride is scheduled to return Oct. 2 when the precision squad of 35 men and coal-black horses keeps a date at Portland, Ore., International Livestock Exposition Inc.

Next Tuesday, the squad will leave for Lethbridge, Alta., on the first leg of a trek postponed nine years ago by war.

From the show at Portland, Oct. 2 to 9, the troupe will move to Harrisburg, Pa., for the Pennsylvania National Horse Show Association show and thence to New York City for the National Horse Show Association of America show Nov. 2 to 9.

Months of training will have ended when the Mounted Police detachment leaves the barracks here. Inspector William Dick of Ottawa will be officer in charge, while S.Sgt. C. Walker, who instructed the troupe in the mounted drill to music, will accompany him.

Trade Preference For West Germany

GENEVA (CP) — Twelve nations, including Canada, have signed an agreement here extending the most-favored-nation treatment in tariffs to western Germany, it was announced today.

Besides Canada, the agreement was signed by Belgium, Brazil, Ceylon, France, India, Luxembourg, Holland, Norway, Pakistan, the United Kingdom and the United States.

The effect of the agreement will be that the 12 signatory states will, in principle, apply the same tariffs to their imports from western Germany as they do on imports from any other contracting state.

Community Chest Seeks Canvassers

Officials of the residential canvass division of the Community Chest are busy trying to contact persons who will act as district captains and canvassers in their October campaign. Division heads are, left to right: Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, Mrs. J. L. Ford, Mrs. A. H. Cox, chairman, and Mrs. R. D. Harvey.

Persons throughout the Greater Victoria area who are willing to give part of their time next month to act as district captains and house-to-house canvassers in the Community Chest campaign, which will run from Oct. 4 to 23, are being sought by Mrs. A. H. Cox, chairman of the residential canvass division of the campaign.

"Our immediate need is to find someone in each district who will act as a team captain to direct the canvassing of that district," Mrs. Cox explained during a meeting with her co-chairmen at campaign headquarters in Prince Robert House.

"We will also need plenty of canvassers if we are to carry out our plan of having every household in the area canvassed," she said. "We will be happy to hear from people who will volunteer to canvass only two blocks."

Anyone wishing to answer this call for volunteers should contact Mrs. Cox at campaign headquarters in Prince Robert House or one of the divisional co-chairmen: Mrs. J. L. Ford, Mrs. G. W. Pottinger and Mrs. R. D. Harvey.

Telephone number of the Prince Robert House office is B 4209.

2,200 Will Take Officers' Training

More than 2,200 students at 25 Canadian universities across the country will be taking Canadian Officers Training Corps training this year. The figure represents an increase of approximately 400 over last year's C.O.T.C. quota.

During the past summer more than 1,800 students attended army schools and camps—an increase of about 500 over the summer training period of 1947.

More than 27,000 young men and women born in the United States served in the Canadian army and R.C.A.F. during the Second World War.

Figures compiled at service headquarters in Ottawa show that of this number 19,068 enlisted in the army, the majority before the U.S. entered the war and 8,709 men and 155 women crossed the border to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. For the most part the Americans served overseas and many were decorated for courage and leadership.

Figures showing the number who enrolled in the R.C.N. were not available but one navy official said the number was small.

Equipment Display At Armory Today

A skeleton coast artillery Mag-slip transmission system, on the secret list during wartime, and a number of technical instruments will highlight Army Week equipment display at the Bay Street Armory today and Thursday.

Numerous types of equipment, guns of various sizes, radar units and vehicles will be open for inspection by the public from 2:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon and from 7:30 to 10 in the evening on both days.

Signal units will show wireless and communication equipment, and medical corps methods will be shown.

Other units taking part include the Coast and Anti-Aircraft Artillery School, the 5th H.A.A. Regt., R.C.A., and the Canadian Scottish Regt.

RADIO-CONTROLLED BOAT

Between 2 and 2:30 Thursday afternoon, army officials plan to demonstrate a radio-controlled target boat. ### 1,360 M.P.H. Wind In Seattle Tunnel

SEATTLE (AP)—A miniature wind tunnel which simulates flying conditions of 1,360 miles per hour at 80,000 feet altitude was reported from University of Washington Tuesday.

The complete unit, in the aeronautical laboratory, is 20 feet long and four feet high. It has a test section only one inch by two inches in which tiny wing sections will be tested. Air velocity is created by four large vacuum pumps.

The purpose is for the study of reactions of an air stream as it passes through the tube at high speed.

Spokane Man Elected President Of Air Council

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claude Calkins, prominent Spokane business man, Tuesday night was elected president of the Northwest International Air Council, succeeding Harold G. Jones of Wenatchee.

Delegates to the two-day conference here voted to drop "Northwest Aviation Planning Council" as the organization's official name, and adopted the new title.

Other officers elected at the closing session were: J. Pringle, Chilliwack, first vice-president; Bill Hughes, Lewiston, Idaho, second vice-president; and Don Hilderbrand, Spokane, secretary.

Air vice-marshal K. M. Guthrie, commanding officer of the Northwest Air Command at Edmonton, spoke on problems relative to the maintenance of a defence or attack force in polar regions. "Supply is the key to Arctic defence and attack," he said. "We've got to beat these problems so we can beat it. And we're well on the way now to having them beaten."

He said difficulties of training personnel to understand Arctic conditions and failure to develop wind and tear-proof clothing were obstacles that must be overcome before a polar military force can become mobile and effective.

HALIFAX (CP)—One hundred Estonians and Latvian political refugees who arrived here in the small vessels Capry and Ostervag will be admitted to Canada, Mines and Resources Minister MacKinnon said in an interview here Tuesday night.

Mr. MacKinnon said the only reason for delay was to permit proper screening of all refugees to make sure no Communists entered the country.

The 100 have been detained at immigration barracks here since their arrival. Arrangements will be made to find suitable work for them. Other groups which landed at Saint John, N.B., and Quebec have been admitted to Canada.

Mrs. G. F. W. Hudson lived in central China. Now home with Mr. Hudson on vacation leave.

Fabulous Chinese Dollars Intrigue Victoria Women

The fabulous currency of China keeps everyone guessing and has a tendency to give the person in possession of a purse full of Chinese dollars a feeling of having joined the millionaire circle for a fleeting moment, is the opinion of two young women, who have recently returned from the Orient.

After spending two years in China, and several months in the British Isles and Egypt, Miss Olga Owen is in Victoria renewing acquaintances and visiting former school friends.

During war years, Miss Owen, with other young British Columbia women, entered United States to work in Washington, D.C. Following the war she traveled to the Orient, establishing headquarters in Shanghai, where she worked at the central office of Bureau of Supplies.

"My first dinner, after my arrival, cost me $1,100," Miss Owen remarked with a smile, "and when I left last Christmas, the cost of a similar dinner had risen to the staggering amount of $225,000."

She also stated that just before she left the city, nylon stockings, although their importation was banned, were on sale for $8, in Canadian money, per pair.

"There were none of the new, fashionable dark shades, for the stock was prewar," she added.

Much of her time, she spent traveling.

Hongkong is one of the most beautiful cities she has seen, she tells you, and compares its scenery with that of British Columbia.

NO 'LONGER LENGTHS'

"We got along fine except for the clothing situation," she said. "Chinese tailors were wonderful and could make practically anything one asked for, but the girls in our group were almost desperate for fashion magazines, as we'd heard so much about the new longer lengths."

"We had most of our shoes made from copies because there were no fashionable ready-made shoes to be had," she continued.

From China, Miss Owen traveled to England, where she still eluded to alleviate the clothing situation, because of strict rationing.

BUYING SPREE

"I went on a real spree when I arrived in New York, and shoes were the first on my list," she stated happily.

En route to England she stopped in Alexandria and Tangier.

The latter city Miss Owen described as a chapter from "Tales of the Arabian Nights."

"Why, I even found myself watching the natives, expecting them to wear the quaint turned up shoes," she finished.

While in the city she is visiting a former school friend, Mrs. H. T. Goodland, Cadboro Bay Road.

She spent three weeks up-island at Royston, the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Owen, and also in Vancouver, where she lived for many years.

Mrs. Hudson has been living for the past two years in Anhwei in Central China, not far from Nanking, where her husband is attached to the Chinese Maritime Customs.

Her impressions of China include the "terrible unrest that centres in continuous guerrilla warfare," and "the strange sensation of carrying millions of Chinese dollars in my purse when I went shopping."

CHINESE WOMEN

"But I think perhaps more than anything else," she continued "I have been impressed by the number of young Chinese women who are making a name for themselves in the medical profession. 'In Wuhu, where we lived on the Yangtse River, the largest Christian hospital in China was situated. In that hospital were 24 doctors. Of these 19 were Chinese women and one a foreign woman.

"There are all comparatively young, too, and many of them are clever surgeons."

Wuhu is also the largest rice exporting point on the Yangtse, Mrs. Hudson explains, and the centre of the second largest rice producing district in the world.

"There is sadness in the thought, however," she says "for there is not enough rice to feed even the Chinese people and at present they are importing rice from Louisiana."

Guerrilla warfare in Central China goes on day and night, Mrs. Hudson says, and colors life with restless uncertainty.

"We have seen the Communists occupy villages just across the river from us," she said, "watched the flashes of the guns and listened to the continual noise."

As for money, Mrs. Hudson talks of it in the millions.

"We felt very affluent until we started spending. Then the Hongkong dollars, as they are called, disappeared very quickly."

There is very little social life in Central China now, Mrs. Hudson says, "and the few Canadians out there have to make their own fun and entertainment."

CANADIANS CELEBRATE

"We get together on every possible occasion. Celebrate every birthday and anniversary. On July 1st we waved flags and sang 'Oh Canada.'"

"You know, I think being far away from home makes one more conscious of one's nationality."

The she added, "when we wanted to be really gay we went down to Shanghai, where opera, night clubs, the ballet and entertainment of all kinds, still flourishes."

Mrs. Hudson is the daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. K. Cornwall, 2275 Oak Bay Avenue.

During the war years she lived in Victoria, and was a member of the staff of Island Events.

In January, 1947, she joined her husband in China and since living out there has been a provincial correspondent for the Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson are on vacation leave at present and will be in Victoria until early in the new year.

Church Bazaar—Final arrangements were made for the annual church bazaar to be held Sept. 30, at a meeting of Esquimalt Sub-Division of Catholic Women's League in the parish hall.

Lustrous White Satin Graces Bride

Mrs. James C. Darlee.—Photo by Paul Jonas.

Gleaming white satin created the bridal gown for Miss Hilda Catherine, second youngest daughter of Fred Schaefer, May Street, when she exchanged nuptial vows with James Charles Darlee.

Rev. E. A. Biberdorf solemnized the ceremony Saturday evening at Hope Lutheran Church. Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a coronet head-dress to hold her floor-length veil, which misted over her gown distinguished with satin rosettes tapering to the bottom of the full skirt. She carried red roses, white carnations and snapdragons, in her bouquet. A three-strand pearl necklace, and earrings, gift of the groom, were her only jewelry.

Bridesmaids were Misses Frieda and Gertrude Schaefer, sister and cousin of the bride. They wore identical gowns in pink and blue with matching picture hats and gloves. Their bouquets were of carnations and roses.

Best man was Max Guthrie. Ushering guests to their seats were Bill, Victor and Henry Schaefer, brothers of the bride. A reception followed at the bride's home, where guests were welcomed by the newlyweds, Rev. Biberdorf proposed the toast.

Following their wedding trip to Grayson, Sask., where they will visit the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Darlee, the couple will make their home in Victoria.

With her pearl grey suit, Mrs. Darlee wore a cherry red topcoat, grey accessories and a corsage bouquet of white gardenias.

The Polyanthus, a pretty spring flower, is believed to be a cross between the primrose and the cowslip.

Wilkins Tells Of Possibilities Of Arctic Regions

VANCOUVER (CP)—It takes a man like Sir Hubert Wilkins to melt the myths of the Arctic.

A pioneer of the world of ice and snow, Sir Hubert is a veteran of Arctic air lanes and has traversed underwater paths within 350 miles of the North Pole. The voyage was in a submarine.

Recently returned from the Arctic, he finds the North Pole one of the most uninteresting places of the snowy wasteland. "It's not solid ice," he said. "There is often open water there, but it is very uninteresting."

"I was up there with a young fellow who had been there 60 times. It was just routine to him."

Orchids grow in the Arctic, cotton grows wild at Point Barrow, Alaska, and there are lots of humble bees.

"Once I got into trouble with a bees' nest. Some scientists wanted it to study, but I had eaten all the honey."

Sir Hubert, who sponsors use of submarines for northern defence, finds the cold a bit of a myth.

HUMIDITY FACTOR

"I've seen Eskimos half naked enjoying the sunshine."

The Arctic is no colder than many a Canadian and some United States cities in winter, but, like the tropics, it's the humidity you feel."

The Russians, he said, had trained their people to live, work and manufacture in the Arctic despite rigors of climate and terrain.

He told in interviews and in an address to the Northwest Aviation Planning Council convention here how the Russians are producing grain, pasturing cattle, caring for millions of bees, and extracting sugar from reindeer moss with sulphuric acid.

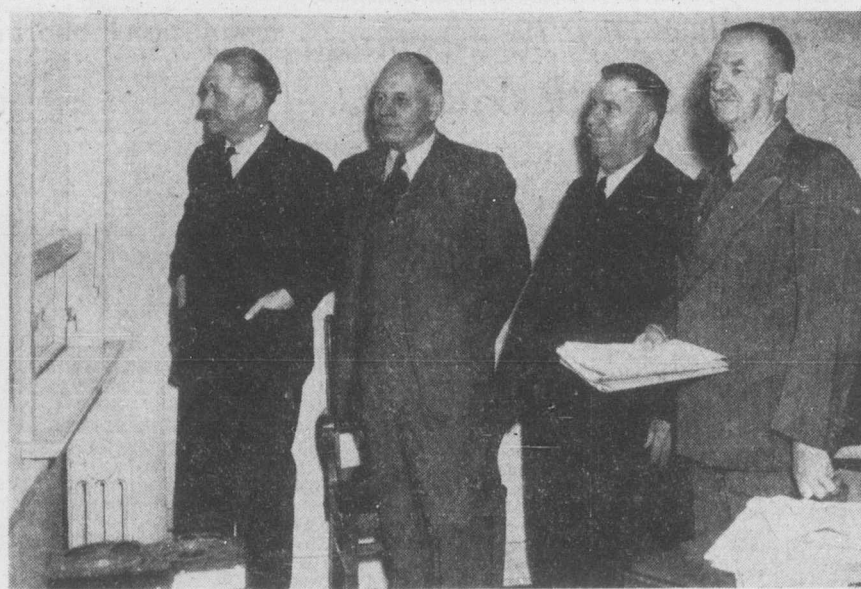

Sir Hubert has been with the research and developing branch of the U.S. Military Planning Bureau since 1942. He is engaged in Arctic undersea studies.

McNaughton Sure No A-Bomb In Russia

PARIS (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton said Tuesday "we are quite certain Russia has not yet produced an atomic bomb."

Gen. McNaughton, Canada's representative on the United Nations' Atomic Energy Commission, said "the United States, Britain and Canada have leadership in atomic energy developments despite feverish Russian attempts to produce a bomb of their own."

"There is no cause now for hysteria," he added in an interview. "We have a short time—perhaps five years—in which to try to reach a system of international atomic control before a time for hysteria really arrives."

Latest Plan For Inner Harbor Calls For Promenade And Floats

The matter of cleaning, dredging and providing better accommodation for visiting yachts in Victoria's Inner Harbor was again discussed by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Discussion followed presentation of a committee report submitted by George Paulin, chairman of the chamber's harbor development group. The report proposed a promenade be constructed immediately below the Causeway in front of the Empress Hotel and four floats, each 60 feet in length, be placed outward from this to provide berths for at least eight visiting craft.

The report suggested the promenade be built so as to be one and one-half feet higher than the highest possible tide. The floats, it said, need only be 12 feet wide.

The existing wooden float at the foot of the lawn bank on the harbor's south side should be done away with, the report stated.

All mud should be dredged from the harbor to a depth at least two feet below the level of water at low tide.

The recommendations and suggestions embodied in the report met with the unanimous approval of the directors. After making the report a resolution of the chamber, directors decided to forward the plan to the City Council for action.

In line with the topic at hand was a letter read before the meeting from John Graham, of Port Madison, Winslow, Washington, who recently visited this city on his yacht, The Pelagic.

"Victoria is a lovely place which all yachtsmen enjoy," he wrote. "But the water in front of the Empress Hotel is in such filthy condition from fuel oil and waste that a severe scrubbing and a coat of paint is required to restore respectability after leaving."

Mr. Graham said "foul muck" covered his oars as he rowed from his yacht to the shore, and that a lady's dress and a man's white pants were ruined.

Directors decided to write Mr. Graham, explaining their plans for harbor improvement.

Want Land Cleared Before Lake Made

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce voted at a meeting Tuesday afternoon their unanimous support to a resolution asking the Provincial government not to flood any land in its development of electrical power without first clearing the land and pulling out tree stumps.

The resolution directly concerns the John Hart development of the B.C. Power Commission at Campbell River. The commission proposes to dam Lower Campbell Lake and flood areas of land now timbered, the meeting was told.

Chamber Briefs

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce will tender a cocktail party and dinner at the Empress Hotel Monday evening, Sept. 27, to honor directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce, who will arrive here Saturday. Between 70 and 75 persons, from all parts of the United States, will attend.

Delegates from all parts of Canada who will attend the Canadian Chamber of Commerce's annual convention to be held during the last week of October in Vancouver, have been invited by directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to spend Friday, Oct. 29, in Victoria. Local members will take the visitors for a water-front drive in the afternoon, and will be hosts at a buffet supper in the evening.

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce have expressed their desire to see this year's Community Chest campaign for $180,000 put over the top, and are asking all members to support the drive which runs from Oct. 4 to 23.

Scientists Seek 'Trojan Horse' To Carry Against Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Scientists are seeking a chemical "Trojan Horse" to carry atomic energy against man's worst disease enemy—cancer.

Radioactive by-products of atom bomb development have the power to destroy cancer by direct "bombardment." These by-products are the "radioisotopes"—man-made, ray-emitting forms of chemical elements found in nature.

But most of these cannot be used in effective amounts in the human body. The few that can be used can not always be "aimed" properly at the wily cancer target.

SOME SUCCESSES
There have been a few real "hits"—against a few cases of thyroid cancer—but that's all. The thyroid is a gland in the neck.

What the scientists would like to find—and they have made some exploratory progress—is some dependable means of getting their radio-active ammunition right inside the cancer fortress without doing damage on the way.

They are seeking some chemical which cancer—and cancer alone—will attract to itself. If they find such a thing, then they would attempt to load this "Trojan horse" with enough radio-active stuff to destroy the cancer.

Except in the case of thyroid cancer—and in only a few selected instances of that—it has so far been impossible to find a dependable means of concentrating fire on cancer areas without endangering healthy tissue.

MANY ISOTOPES USELESS

Many of the radioactive isotopes are useless for the direct treatment of cancer because they are poisonous. Radioactive arsenic is an example. The radiating power of some others is far too lasting for the body to tolerate. Take, for example, radioactive carbon "14." In 5,000 years only half its original radiating power would have dissipated. The body couldn't tolerate any significant dosage of that such a substance even for a few minutes.

But there are a few radioisotopes which are non-poisonous and with radiating power of relatively short duration. Radioactive iodine and phosphorus have proved the best bets so far.

Iodine tends to concentrate naturally in the thyroid gland. Phosphorus is attracted naturally to the blood-producing centres, the bone marrow, the spleen, the lymph glands.

But cancer is a different story... the cancerous thyroid often does not pick up so much of the radioactive iodine as does normal thyroid tissue. Hence, thyroid cancers cannot always be destroyed by iodine "bombardment."

A tiny step has been taken toward finding a "Trojan Horse" that might carry radioiodine to cancerous tissue other than the thyroid.

STUDY ANTIBODIES

At the Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research in New York, nature's "antibodies" are being used as carriers in animal tests. Antibodies are substances in the tissues which act in opposition to certain harmful materials, such as toxins and bacteria.

Sloan-Kettering researchers have extracted antibodies from the livers and kidneys of rats and mice. They've "tagged" these antibodies with radiiodine and reinjected them into other rats and mice. The antibodies head straight for the liver and kidneys carrying strong radioactive dosages.

about the NATIONAL HOUSING ACT

A regular series of questions and answers on house financing and construction.

Q. If I obtain a mortgage under the National Housing Act to finance construction of a new house, will I be able to pay the loan in full at any time or must I carry out the full schedule of monthly payments over the 20 to 30 year period?

A. The mortgage deed includes a clause which states that the balance owing may be paid in full any time after three years from the interest adjustment date on payment of a three months' interest bonus. The interest adjustment date is normally two months following completion or occupancy of the house, whichever occurs first.

Q. I understand that the amount I can borrow under the National Housing Act to finance construction of a new house is based on lending value. Can you tell me just what lending value means?

A. Lending value consists of the estimated costs of construction (including land) or the appraised value of the house (including land), whichever is the lesser. Cost may include the cost of the land, cost of construction of the house, cost of equipment of a permanent nature, legal and architectural fees and any other costs necessarily incurred. Appraised value, on the other hand, means the practical value for lending purposes of the completed property as appraised by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the approved lending institution through which the loan is to be made. It should be pointed out that lending value does not necessarily equal the cost of the proposed property. A prospective borrower must therefore be prepared to pay in cash, land or labor the amount by which the actual cost exceeds the loan which is calculated from the lending value according to the percentages prescribed in the Act.

Q. Are there any regulations laid down regarding the minimum size of a garage to be built and used by the owner of a house constructed and financed under the National Housing Act?

A. Yes. A garage must have a clear inside length of not less than 18 feet and a clear inside width of not less than 10 feet if one car is to be accommodated; the garage must have a clear inside length of not less than 19 feet and a clear inside width of not less than 10 feet for the first car, and eight feet for each additional car.

Q. How much money can be borrowed under the National Housing Act for the purpose of adding a self-contained unit to an existing house?

A. The maximum loan which can be made for home extension purposes is $3,000 for the first family housing unit to be added; and $1,000 for each additional unit. The rate of interest is five per cent so long as the borrower is not in default. All home extension loans are repayable in monthly installments in three years if the principal amount does not exceed $1,000 for each family unit, and five years when larger loans are involved. It should also be pointed out that application for home extension loans, which are intended only to finance additional self-contained dwelling units in existing homes, should be made to a chartered bank or approved installment credit agency.

Q. What is the rate of interest on a National Housing Act loan made to finance construction of a new farm house?

A. Loans for new farm houses bear interest at 4½ per cent per annum (calculated semi-annually).

(Questions on house financing and construction may be directed to this column and every effort will be made to answer them at an early date. —Editor.)

MOM'S MONOPOLY

One of the reasons why there are so many wayward and undisciplined children is because their mothers will not let their fathers take any part in their rearing. To all intents and purposes the great majority of youngsters are half orphans who haven't even a speaking acquaintance with their fathers, and who regard them with about as much affection and respect as they do the milkman.

This is because the average mother is so monopolistic that she cannot bear to share her child with its father. She wants to be all in all to little Johnny and so she impresses on his tender mind the fact that it is Mother who loves him; it is Mother who gives him the candy; it is Mother who persuades Daddy to buy him the red wagon, and conversely she holds the father up as a cruel giant who will mistreat him. It is Mother who threatens the children by telling them that she will have

Dad punish them when he comes home.

FATHERS ARE PROUD

There is a general belief, fostered by mothers, that men are lacking in the parental instinct, and that it is only mothers who really love their offspring. Nothing is farther from the truth. Most men are as proud as Punch over their fatherhood and go bragging all over the place about what a wonder Junior is, until monopolistic Mama quenches their enthusiasm by never letting them touch the baby, or even change his ditty, or take him out anywhere alone, or do anything that establishes a close personal contact between them.

Many and many a man who would have made a devoted father is frozen out of the game by his wife who makes him understand, once and for all, that it is her baby and she is going to rear it as she pleases, and all the use Father is, is just to pay the bills. So Mother breaks the golden thread and another batch of children come along who call their father "the old man," and who are not half as well acquainted with him as they are with the policeman on the corner. And there is another hard-hungry man who could weep with envy when he sees other children and their fathers chumming together.

NEED MAN'S JUDGMENT

The alibi of the women who separate their husbands from their children is that a mother understands her children so much better than their father does and hence is so much better fitted to guide them. But this is not true. Perhaps a mother may know how to fix a baby formula better than Daddy does, but when it comes to steering adolescent children through the dangers and temptations that all of them must meet, they need a man's experience, a man's judgment, a man's firmness to hold them in line.

No matter how much a mother loves her children, no matter how intelligent she is, she has lived a more or less cloistered life and she cannot give her children certain vital guidance that only their father can give them. He has seen life, and when he talks to his children about its pitfalls, they listen.

When God created the world, He intended that all children should have two parents, a mother and a father—and all children still need both.

Musso Made Way To 'Presidency' Of Indonesia Reds In 37 Days

BATAVIA (Reuter) — Musso, Indonesia's 50-year-old Communist leader, rose from obscurity to the presidency of Java's self-proclaimed Communist republic in 37 days.

The stocky, former school teacher arrived under a false name in Java from Moscow on Aug. 12. Today he is the acknowledged leader of the Communist counter-revolution against the Indonesian republicans.

Behind his personal triumph is the story of a young man who went to Moscow 23 years ago with a dream of Communist rule in Java.

His visit was a sequel to the split in the Indonesian nationalists' ranks and the formation of the Indonesian Communist Party. His request for active help for the Communist revolution against the Dutch in 1926, Musso did not get the help and the revolt failed.

EXILED TO CANTON

Musso was captured by police and later exiled to Canton. He made his way to Moscow and began his Communist education. Some say he returned to Indonesia once, but few ever heard his name until last month.

His first public appearance, after his return, was at a meeting of the Indonesian Communist Party at Jogjakarta Aug. 20 which passed resolutions demanding the Republican government break off political negotiations with the Netherlands and form a "National Front government with the Communists in a dominant position.

Nine days after the resolutions were passed, Musso had induced all left-wing parties and the Trade Union Federation to join the Communist ranks, which were strong in Madiun province.

When the invitation to the Moslem Party and Republican Nationalist Party to join the National Front was rejected, Musso left for Madiun.

Sept. 8, Madiun heard his fiery eloquence in the archipelago's universal Indonesian language because Musso had forgotten his native tongue.

Observers said the Moscow-trained propagandist quickly attracted the discontented Madiun populace to his Russian doctrines and made his youthful dream a reality.

Because of his long exile, little is known here of his real character and personality. There is not even a photograph of him. Older Indonesians can remember the youthful school teacher though they have not much faith in his chances of being Java's Communist dictator for long.

Want Light, Water And Supervisors At Fish Wharves Here

The Chamber of Commerce will make application to the City Council to have adequate light and water facilities installed at the two fishermen's wharves here, and will suggest that the city supply caretakers to properly supervise the wharves, it was decided by chamber directors at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The decision followed a suggestion from the chamber's harbor development committee. Committee members are concerned that light and water facilities are lacking at the wharves and that there is no one on duty to ensure proper supervision, George Paulin, committee chairman, reported.

Eventually, the wharves will be taken over by the Federal department of transport, Mr. Paulin said. Until such time as this is done, however, action should be taken by the City Council, he said, his committee believed.

Boat owners using the wharves could be assessed according to the size of their boats so as to underwrite the cost of providing wharf supervision, he said.

8 Injured By Blast Following Grounding Of Greek Freighter

HALIFAX (CP)—Flames still licked parts of the Greek freighter Orion, aground in the Strait of Belle Isle, as eight of her 34-man crew were treated in hospital here Tuesday night for burns and other injuries.

The United States Coast Guard cutter Androscoogin reached the 4,900-ton ship Tuesday as the 26 crew members remaining aboard battled to control fire raging in her No. 1 hold.

The eight seamen, injured when an explosion wrecked the vessel after she had rammed aground in heavy fog Monday, were taken by plane to hospital at the United States base at Argentia on Newfoundland's south coast.

The Orion went aground about 1,500 yards from the Flower Island lighthouse on the Newfoundland shore of the Strait while bound from Sydney, N.S., to Botwood, Nfld., with a cargo of coal.

Meanwhile, the Halifax Salvage tug Foundation Josephine raced toward the grounded freighter. It is possible the ship can be salvaged if water has not poured into her after holds,

Wallace Blames Two Opponents For Troubles With Russia

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States presidential election campaign, now in full swing, today finds Progressive candidate Henry Wallace the only one of the three leading candidates making positive and personal charges against his opponents.

Wallace bluntly holds President Truman and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and their advisers, responsible for the troubles with Russia. He implies that if war comes it will be their policies that brought it. (In New York Tuesday night Wallace said his political hopes were no longer fixed on this year's election, but on 1952. He said his party "is not going to go out in 1948," but indicated he did not expect personally to be a candidate in the election four years hence.)

Truman blasts away at the 80th Congress, but neither Dewey nor his running-mate, Governor Earl Warren of California, can be held responsible for the failures or success of the federal congress. Nor does Truman say they could.

Dewey and Warren almost ignore Truman and his advisers in their appeal, but base their claim for support on the allegation that the 16-year-old Democratic administration is inept and incapable of doing what the needs of the moment call for.

Warren, and in a measure Dewey, admit there is good in all people, including Democrats, and preach unity and cooperation but under a Republican Congress and administration.

UNSWERVING LINE

Wallace has followed an unswerving line since he broke with the administration two years ago and started out on a third-party career that has brought him into close association with the Communist fringe.

Thus it is not as startling or scary, as it otherwise would be when a man who was four years Vice-President and longer as a cabinet member, makes the most terrible charges against his chief opponents over a national radio network.

Compared with the Wallace type of campaign Dewey and his running mate are party-waist idealists and Truman a mild, old-fashioned stumper seeing only the issues that lie between him and the horizon.

However, leading political dopsters concede Wallace will convince only about 2,000,000 of the 50,000,000-odd eligible voters.

Marcel Cerdan Gives Zale Savage Beating

JERSEY CITY (CP)—Fifty million Frenchmen weren't wrong!

Their hopes that Marcel Cerdan would win the world's middleweight boxing championship were fulfilled last night when the mighty Moroccan mauled Tony Zale into submission in 12 rounds.

A crowd of 19,272 who had watched the five dull preliminaries served up by the Tournament of Champions was brought to its feet round after round in the headline bout. The scrappy 156-pound Casablanca cat took the fight right out of the defending champion's hands from the first round and left the 159-pound 34-year-old Zale winded, weary and worn.

It was evident after the sixth round that Zale, an 8 to 5 favorite, could only win by a knockout.

Six round later Zale was declared knocked out, under New Jersey law, when he couldn't answer the bell. For a few minutes he couldn't answer anything.

Actually the 32-year-old Frenchman finished his opponent at the bell which ended the 11th round. But under the state's boxing laws, the count was made between rounds and thus it was officially made a 12th-round K.O.

BADLY BEATEN

The end of the 11th round was not the only time that Zale was in a state of collapse. His slavic features mashed and red, the former titleholder was carried into his corner at the end of the sixth and seventh rounds.

The Canadian Press, scorecard gave Zale the fourth round and called the third even. The rest were Cerdan's. The Associated Press gave Zale the third and fourth rounds, while referee Paul Cavalier credited the loser with rounds three, four and called the ninth even.

Otherwise, the fight followed a fairly set pattern. Cerdan, a dark, murderous little mauler, waded in with his chin protected and poured cruel left hooks and short punishing rights to Zale's head.

Zale, who had been expected to cut the Frenchman in two with his deadly rights to the body, seldom could find a target.

The 11th saw Cerdan boring in relentlessly, landing punches four to one, and trying hard for the kill. Toward the end Zale was plainly in distress as he stood with his back to the ropes and absorbed punishment without raising a hand in defence.

The gross gate was $242,870, with Zale share $120,000 and Cerdan's $40,000.

Oaks Increase Lead As Rainiers Blank Seals

Ever hear the story of how a team played a half inning and gained a game and a half, coming mighty close to a pennant—all in one night?

Oakland came across the bay to San Francisco last night and stopped the Seals in the last half of the ninth inning to win the celebrated battle of the pine tar, 4 to 3.

Floyd Speer twirled the frame in place of Ralph Buxton, whose use of pine tar caused the rhu-barb that led to the last-inning

Well-Wishers Kiss Hug Marcel Cerdan

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)

—It sounded like Paris had just been regained by the Allies. The French words poured out of a small group of men who were trying to make up for the 50,000,000 Frenchmen who couldn't be there.

"Bravo, Marcel, bravo!" They patted the back of the swarthy little man in the faded blue bathrobe. They kissed him and they hugged him.

Marcel Cerdan, new middleweight boxing champion of the world, grinned and rolled his eyes.

"Merci, merci, merci," he said to his well-wishers.

"It was a hard fight," he said through interpreters. "He hurt me with some punches high on the head. And his body punching, especially in the fourth round, didn't make one feel comfortable."

"Yes, it was a left hook that did the damage to Zale in the 11th," Cerdan added, and he raised his still bandage-wrapped hand high to show what he meant.

"Yes, I'll fight Zale again. I go home in about two weeks but I come back here," he said.

Longshot Scotch Lad Wins Sprint Feature

Although starting well back in an eight-horse field, Scotch Lad, reined by jockey Don Nowell, moved steadily ahead to take a lead in the backstretch and gain a length and a half victory over Pardo in the sixth race at Willows oval yesterday.

The black gelding returned $37.90, $16.10 and $8.35 across the board for an unexpected high. Pardo took the lead at the turn by out-speeding Ney Spring, the favorite, but Scotch Lad made its bid at the stretch to move in for the money. Broadoak closed out third.

Yesterday also marked the second-disqualification of the meet, which came in the third race after New Joe and Episet began dueling for the lead in the stretch.

SUNDQUIST FINED

Racing Secretary A. R. Dingman announced today that jockey Johnny Sundquist had been fined $109 for his part in the disqualification of New Joe in the third race yesterday.

New Joe won the race but was disqualified and placed second when the judges ruled that Sundquist had allowed his mount to run out in the stretch thus preventing Episet from getting running room. Episet was declared winner.

Another upset winner was Ascot Maid in the seventh. Closing in fast on Little Gloomy, who in turn had grabbed the lead at the stretch from Arab Vita, the victor came through to pay $24.70, and doubled with Little Gloomy for $37.55 in the one-two.

Banners High, jumping into an early lead to take each post with a substantial margin in the first paid $15.55 for straight bettors for the only other double figures winner of the day. Somers Band had no trouble in the second, while Gold Pebble and True Act scored easy victories in the fourth and fifth races.

Baseball Pitchers Babied Too Much Says Veteran Of 1880's

WAUREGAN, Conn. (NEA)—Modern baseball is a sissy's game compared with the barehanded brand J. Arthur Atwood played in the 1880's.

Atwood, 84-year-old industrialist, occasionally still shows the young folks in this village how he threw curves when their grandfathers were playing, but he won't put on a glove.

"Anybody wearing a glove in my day would be laughed to shame," he says.

"Players long since have become soft, with mitts, gloves, masks, skin guards and sliding pads.

Atwood, Wauregan cotton textile manufacturer, pitched for Yale when college teams played major league outfits on equal terms. He vividly remembers playing barehanded ball against the New York Giants, the Philadelphia Nationals and other professional clubs.

"Big league pitchers are babied too much now," he asserts.

"Baseball was a real rugged game in my day, especially on pitchers. The batter was allowed to look at nine balls instead of four, including one good pitch, which we called a fair ball, before the last strike could be called.

"And all the extra throwing seemed to do us good."

JUST LIKE WADDELL

During summer vacations from college, more than 60 years ago, Atwood helped acquaint New Englanders with the mysteries of curve ball pitching.

One memorable day in 1884, Atwood hurled two games for Wauregan at the Brooklyn, Conn., Agricultural Fair.

The Brooklyn town team was helpless because its members had never seen a curve ball.

Young Boxer Dies; Fifth Ring Fatality

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bill (Chicken) Thompson, 21-year-old Philadelphia heavyweight, died from injuries suffered in a fight against Johnny Haynes of New York here last Thursday.

Thompson never fully regained consciousness after being floored by Haynes three seconds before the end of their scheduled eight-round bout at Toppi Stadium.

He underwent a brain operation last Friday and appeared better until yesterday, when his condition grew worse.

Thompson was the fifth ring death in the United States this year. In 1947 there were nine and in 1946, 11.

Other deaths this year were: Sam Baroudi, Feb. 21, after a knockout by Ezzard Charles in Chicago; Leroy Decatur, who died of a heart attack during a fight with Fred Herrera in Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 28; Jackie Darthard after being knocked out by Bert Lytle at Milwaukee, April 22; and Jose Berja following a knockout by Roy Higa at Stockton, Calif.

Woodcock Stops Oma But Fails To Impress

LONDON (CP)—British boxing experts hung out no flags to mark the return to the ring of the British heavyweight king, Bruce Woodcock, and his fourth-round knockout victory over Lee Oma at Harringay Arena last night.

Morning newspaper critics, with remarkable unanimity, wrote it off as an incredibly dull fight which proved next to nothing about Woodcock's comeback effort from a broken jaw and subsequent eye trouble stemming from his merciless drubbing last year at the hands of Joe Baski in the same ring.

Their opinion was shared by 10,000 fans who boped the fighter from Detroit and derisively showered the ring with coins as he lay rolling over and over on the canvas while the referee counted him out late in the fourth round.

The kayo punch was no particular sensation. It was just a right cross from which Oma was moving back when it connected to his head. But it was enough to finish off Oma, who had been taking one straight left after another without any adequate reply.

The loser landed one good punch throughout the whole bout, scheduled for eight rounds. That was a left hook to the Doncaster, miner's chin early in the third round. The fact that Bruce's glass jaw showed no ill effects and that the British campaign continued to bore in was about the only cheering thing in it for the cat-calling, feet-stamping watchers.

Promoter Jack Solomons agreed it was an exceptionally poor fight and said he was "disgusted" at Oma's showing.

About Woodcock's future? He hoped to match the Briton next against Olle Tandberg of Sweden in a fight for Woodcock's European crown.

Boston Braves Close To First Pennant In 34 Years; Sox Win

Boston Braves can clinch their first National League pennant in 34 years today, but the baseball spotlight will be centred on Cleveland where the Indians tackle Boston Red Sox with first place in the American League at stake.

Billy Southworth's Braves can mathematically win it today if they beat St. Louis Cardinals and the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers bow to Pittsburgh.

The Braves killed off the remaining pennant hopes of both the Cards and Dodgers yesterday. Taking both ends of a twin bill from the Red Birds 11 to 3 and 4 to 0, while the Dodgers bowed 12 to 11 and 6 to 3 to Pittsburgh.

The Braves now lead the Dodgers seven and a half games. Both teams have nine games left to play and any combination of two Boston victories or Dodger defeats will give Boston its first pennant since 1914. The Cards are eight games back with 10 to go and a loss today will knock them out.

In the American League, the league-leading Red Sox are only a game in front of the runner-up Indians who have won their last six starts. A Cleveland victory would put the two teams in a flat-footed tie for the lead. A Boston triumph would jump the Red Sox two games ahead with only eight games left to play for each team.

SAIN GETS NO. 22

Johnny Sain, the Braves' star right-hander, and rookie Vern Bickford, turned back the Cardinals on nine and four hits respectively. Sain's victory was his 22nd this season.

Pittsburgh's 12-11 victory over Brooklyn completed a game that began in Pittsburgh Aug. 25 when a ninth-inning protest by the Pirates was upheld.

The game was resumed with the Pirates at bat, three runs behind, two out, runners on first and third, Ed Bockman up with a 3-1 count and Carl Erskine pitching. Erskine walked Bockman to load the bases and Hank Behrman took over. Stan Rokjok then broke up the game with a base-clearing double.

In the regular scheduled game that followed Little Vic Lombardi held his former Dodger mates to five hits in picking up his ninth victory.

New York Giants and Chicago Cubs divided a day-night doubleheader by identical 3 to 2 scores. In the day game Johnny Mize clouted his 38th homer with two on.

Andy Pafko's three-run ninth-inning homer enabled the Cubs to grab the nightcap and end a 10-game losing streak.

Cincinnati Reds and Philadelphia Phillies also split a day-night twin bill. The Reds won the first game, 6 to 5 and the Phils took the nightcap, 6 to 1.

Coin Tossing To Decide Baseball Playoff, If Any

CHICAGO (AP)—A coin will be flipped seven times Friday at the American League's office to determine a playoff program if Boston Red Sox, Cleveland Indians or New York Yankees wind up the torrid baseball race in a two-way or triple deadlock.

League president Will Harbridge announced that regardless of the pairings and sites, a first playoff game would be played Monday, Oct. 4, and a second, if necessary, Tuesday, Oct. 5. The world series is booked to start Oct. 6.

In event of a two-team deadlock when the regular season ends Sunday, Oct. 3, a coin will be tossed three times for the playoff site, involving Boston vs. New York, Boston vs. Cleveland or Cleveland vs. New York.

In case a three-way tie develops, a coin will be tossed simultaneously on behalf of the three clubs. Teams with the two matching coins will face in the first playoff game with the odd-coin team standing by to face the winner.

Then the coin will be tossed between the first-game rivals to determine the contest's site. The standing-by club follows by tossing a coin with each of the first-game opponents for the site of the final playoff game.

The complicated arrangement for the American loop's prospective first pennant playoff in history will involve direct teletype communications with the three embattled contenders and representatives of press associations and local newspapers.

City Woman Second In Qualicum Golf

Vancouver's Don Currie was men's champion at the second annual Qualicum Beach fall golf tournament at the up-island centre over the week-end. A three-day affair, the tourney was highly successful this year, and drew a large entry list. Meet is sponsored by the Qualicum merchants.

Runner-up for the men's title was Howard Reid of Qualicum Beach, while other islanders finishing well up were H. McQuinn, Cmcov; G. St. Germaine, Qualicum; C. H. Little, Qualicum, and E. Peden, Victoria.

Mrs. R. L. Cobb of Comox captured the honors in the women's section, while Mrs. E. Jackson of this city was second. Mrs. Emily Kincaid of Qualicum was medalist in the women's division.

Low net score for residents was won by Mrs. Ben Low, while Mrs. Silburn of Victoria was low in the visitor's section. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Reid copped the mixed foursome event.

ESQUIMALT SOCCER
Esquimalt senior soccer squad will meet at the Fraser Hall tonight at 7.30. Anyone interested is requested to be on hand.

Cougars Strengthened For Saturday's Game

Although beaten in two previous tilts—both of which were exhibition games, Victoria Cougars will attempt to start off Pacific Coast League play on the right foot and have added three additional linemen for the game against Vancouver Lions under the lights at Athletic Park Saturday night, starting at 8.30.

Procuring of three navy linemen, all tipping the scales at better than 200 pounds, is expected to give Coach Lou Mogul's charges the additional strength they lack in those positions. Bob Woods and Ernie Towers, both 220-pounders, are slated to see action as tackles, while Fritz Fritz, a 250-pound hefty, will team up with Mogul, who will definitely see action Saturday from the guard position.

Further strength was added to the backfield with the signing of Toad Garnet, whose speed and accurate long-distance passing yields a definite threat to the Vancouver squad. It was an-

Says Council Lacked Discretion In Refusing Doukhobor License

In refusing to issue a trades license to a Doukhobor organization, the City of Grand Forks had not exercised discretion as called under the Municipal Act, W. A. Schultz, counsel for the Sunshine Valley Co-operative Society, submitted to the Appeal Court today.

Mr. Schultz was speaking in defence of a judgment of Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson ordering the city of Grand Forks to issue a trade license to the co-operative which is comprised of Doukhobor members.

The city, through its counsel, T. G. Norris, K.C., is seeking in its appeal to have the judgment set aside on the grounds that the trial judge had no jurisdiction under the Municipal Act to interfere with the actions of the city council.

While admitting that the law courts had no jurisdiction to interfere with the actions of a city council, the counsel argued this was so long as a council showed discretion.

"In this case they have acted against sound principles," he said. "Among other things they have interfered with the basic common rights of the individual."

Mr. Schultz also said the resolution refusing a license to the Doukhobor organization was never passed by the city council on March 22 as claimed by the appellant. He contended that resolution was passed after the city council heard that the Doukhobor co-operative was going to take the case to the courts.

"Are you suggesting a fraudulent entry?" asked the court.

"I am forced to take that position due to the circumstances," said counsel.

The appeal is continuing.

City Briefs

The city detective office is seeking the whereabouts of Frederick Handschuk, who left his home at North Kamloops late in August.

Moving pictures will be shown tonight at 8:15 at the weekly meeting of the Victoria Club for the Hard of Hearing, 1416 Douglas Street.

Two house building permits were issued today by J. W. Oosterink, city building inspector. They were to A. E. Ramar, Victor Street, for $9,000 five-room dwelling to be erected at 780 Richmond Avenue, and to Mrs. V. E. Bailey, 1891 Quamichan Street, for a $4,000 four-room house at 834 Metchoshin Street.

Stole Bike, Hurt In Accident, Winds Up In Court

The bicycle which Francis Barera, 3135 Washington Avenue stole, brought him nothing but grief.

Shortly after he took it from the downtown area on the night of Sept. 7 he got into an accident on Burnside Road near Douglas Street.

He was taken to Jubilee Hospital to be treated for his hurts. When he came out he had to face a charge of theft.

Before Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today he pleaded guilty to stealing the bike, owned by Allan Blaney.

He was remanded to tomorrow for sentence.

3 More Polio Cases Reported On Island

Three new cases of poliomyelitis on southern Vancouver Island were reported today by the provincial health department.

The new cases are a Monterey School student, a 30-year-old man at Duncan and a person from Mesachie Lake. The latest cases bring the total for Vancouver Island to date this year to 10 and for the province to 85.

At this time last year there had been 220 cases recorded in B.C. with six deaths. So far poliomyelitis this year has claimed the lives of three British Columbians.

Agreement Reached On Workers' Seniority

The Labor Relations Board today reported that agreement had been reached by the Standard Steam Laundry Ltd., Victoria, and Laundry Workers' Union, Local No. 1, on questions of seniority.

Questions of seniority in a conciliation board's report were returned to the board by the two parties for clarification. The board was composed of Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt, Clarence Pullen and Kenneth R. Genn.

Enthusiasm Marks First Rehearsal Of Symphony

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

"We certainly worked hard, but it's grand getting back into harness," commented one member of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra after last night's rehearsal, the first of the season.

There was keen concentration on every face and an infectious enthusiasm in the atmosphere as the orchestra settled down to a vigorous work-out with their new director, Hans Gruber.

Several players also were starting their first season with the orchestra, some having come from symphonies in other Canadian cities.

As the evening advanced, there was no sign of slackening or tiring. On the contrary, vigor and agility only seemed to grow greater and musical awareness more intense.

Mr. Gruber asked for bigger, more dramatic climaxes and got them; he called for gentler tone in soft passages and was rewarded with several unexpected degrees of pianissimo.

It is said that he is the youngest conductor in Canada; if so, he is also one of the best equipped for the career. To the finest of training and experience, he brings a deep and natural musicianship, a well-developed intellect and a quietly pleasant personality that is at the same time, authoritative.

APPLAUSE FOR NEW DIRECTOR

Watching Hans Gruber conduct this first rehearsal was like watching the beam from a searchlight, isolating first one and then another area, probing and illuminating. His remarkable energy is concentrated, there is no waste, no spilling over into histrionics or extravagant and superfluous gesture. His explanations are concise, simply phrased; his analysis of score, as rehearsals advance, promises to be full and extremely valuable. Spontaneous applause from the members of the orchestra, at the end of the evening, expressed their appreciation and pleasure in the work of the conductor.

In talking thing over later, Mr. Gruber was warm in his praise of all that had been done to develop the orchestra to its present pitch; he spoke earnestly of the future rehearsals that would lead to the opening concert on Nov. 1, and of the intensification of detail that would occupy them.

TRIBUTE TO FORMER CONDUCTORS

It is perfectly true that a director who guides an orchestra through its formative years has a most difficult and worrisome task; one that is less rewarding than that of his successor because he has started with the raw material while he who follows has an edifice on which to work. Very many thanks then, are due to the former conductor of the Victoria Symphony, Melvin Knudsen and to some others who made fundamental contributions toward the present organization; notably, the late Alfred Prescott, to whom must go the credit of preparing many of the younger musicians to be symphony players.

What it all adds up to, is that Victoria faces an eighth season of symphony that by all the portents, definitely will be the finest yet as well as holding golden promise for the future.

$600 Damage

When Cars Collide

A fine of $50 and two months' license suspension was imposed today by Magistrate Hall on Ellis L. Grenek, 2806 Rose Street, at a special sitting of Esquimalt police court. Grenek pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving which arose out of an accident in which $600 worth of damage was done to two cars last night on Tillamook Road. The other car was owned by Ben Elwell, 3363 Linwood Avenue.

Says Majority Here In Favor Of Airpark

Greater Victoria Memorial Airpark Association will meet next week to discuss future plans for the development of pleasure flying in this area.

An executive officer of the association said the success of last week's air show at Patricia Bay proved Victorians were air-minded. He said it now was evident the majority of people living here are behind the idea of having an airpark developed for private planes.

Penticton Workers Conclude Agreement

A collective agreement has been concluded by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 1696, and J. W. Dalrymple, both of Penticton, the Labor Relations Board reported today.

The agreement provides for a wage rate of $1.40 per hour for carpenters and $1.55 per hour for carpenter foreman, guaranteed against any decrease for a period of one year. The cost of living index is to be revised every three months and the rate of wages to be increased or decreased at the rate of 5 cents per hour for each five-point fluctuation in the index.

The agreement was effected with the aid of A. C. A. Baker, resident conciliation officer at Kelowna.

British-Israelites To Hold Convention

In addition to the Canadians, a few American delegates from the Pacific Northwest are expected to be present.

Mayor P. E. George will open the first of two mass meetings at 8 Thursday evening. Business meetings of the group start at 10 each morning.

Rev. E. J. Springett, Toronto, Dominion commissioner of the federation; W. H. Bennett, Windsor, and Mrs. O. A. Brake, Victoria, will address the convention.

Presiding over the meetings will be C. McLean, Montreal.

48 Nationalities Made Up Wartime Canadian Army

A total of 730,625 persons born in 48 different countries were enlisted into the Canadian Army during the Second World War, according to figures compiled by the army's historical section at Ottawa.

Of those born outside of Canada, statistics show that the largest number, 39,907, was born in England, the smallest totals from Albania and Montenegro, three from each of these countries.

Russian-born (U.S.S.R. and Ukraine) Canadian soldiers totaled 2,850.

Several other countries, by reason of birth, contributed heavily to the strength of Canada's wartime army. They include Scotland with 18,308; Ireland, 6,585; U.S. and Alaska, 19,068, and Wales, 2,123.

Others wearing the Canadian battledress were born in Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, Union of South Africa, British Africa, British Guiana, British India, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Belgium, France, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Hungary, Serbia, Bulgaria and Romania.

Col. M. D. Robertson Heads Poppy Drive

Col. M. D. Robertson has been appointed chairman of the Victoria Remembrance Day Committee, and has set up headquarters for this year's Poppy Day campaign at 1228 Government Street in the old post office building.

"The people of Victoria have always supported this effort of the Legion most generously and it is anticipated the response this year will be up to the standard set in the past," Col. Robertson said this morning.

"The proceeds from this operation are used to provide employment and assistance for disabled and 'burnt out' veterans whose cases do not come under any of the usual categories of pension or assistance," he said.

Saturday, Nov. 6, will be Poppy Day this year, he announced. It is planned to have volunteer workers distributed throughout the downtown area and also in the outlying shopping centres on this day. Previous to this, disabled veterans of both wars will have canvassed business establishments and offices, selling wreaths and poppies for window display purposes.

Orders for poppies or wreaths can be filed by letter or telephone at the Remembrance Day Committee office, E 8913.

Anyone able to give part of their time on Poppy Day to assist the committee is asked to contact this office also.

Hubert Allen, 24, U.S. citizen who came to Canada Aug. 28 via Victoria and pleaded guilty Tuesday to cashing four worthless cheques for small amounts with local business establishments, today was remanded until Friday.

Most Veterans Must Enroll For B.C. Hospital Service

Only a small minority of British Columbia's war veterans will be exempt from paying premiums for British Columbia's compulsory hospital insurance scheme, it was learned today.

Whether or not they may be exempt, all veterans must register, Dr. J. M. Hershey, commissioner for the service, said today. Only those who are completely covered by the Department of Veterans' Affairs under all circumstances will be exempt from the provincial scheme.

There are only two classes of veterans who qualify for the exemption. They are:

1. D.V.A. students so long as they are still in training.
2. Veterans in receipt of war veterans' allowances (burned out pensioners).

Even if the veteran himself is exempt, his wife and dependents must be enrolled in the provincial hospital insurance scheme for they are not covered by the Veterans' Affairs Department. The premium for a wife will be $15 per year, for a wife and one child $24 and for a wife and more than one dependent, $30.

Dr. Hershey said that some in receipt of disability pensions were under the impression that they were exempt from contributing to the provincial hospital insurance scheme. The D.V.A. has made it clear that these veterans are not automatically covered by the department for treatment of all conditions. They are only entitled to treatment for their pensionable disabilities.

Dr. Hershey said that these veterans must therefore contribute to the government scheme to cover themselves for conditions other than their pensionable disabilities.

Veterans after enrolling in the B.C. scheme may still apply to D.V.A. for treatment of any condition. If they qualify the treatment of the D.V.A. will be available as in the past.

St. Mary's Men's Guild will hold its first meeting of the season Thursday at 8, in the church hall, Yale Street. The guest speaker will be Rev. S. J. Wickens.

Robert Tait of Regina will hold a meeting of the Canadian Club of Victoria Friday noon in the Empress Hotel on "Responsibilities of Citizenship." Col. J. N. Gibson, club secretary, announced today.

Half Aid For U.K. Bought In Canada

LONDON (AP)—Douglas Jay, economic secretary to the treasury, told the Commons Tuesday Britain spent more than half her first installment on European Recovery Program money in Canada.

The first allotment was $219,000,000, of which Canada got $144,000,000, including $95,000,000 for wheat and four, $26,000,000 for bacon, and $21,000,000 for non-ferrous metals, Jay said. Only $22,000,000 was spent in the United States, of which $16,000,000 went for tobacco and $6,000,000 for non-ferrous metals.

Dr. Brewing United Church Moderator; Move For Unity

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. Willard Brewing, D.D., 14th Moderator-elect of the United Church of Canada, today led the General Council into its 13th biennial conference.

The 67-year-old cleric from St. George's Church, Toronto, said in an interview after his unanimous election Tuesday night: "The challenge of the church now is to breathe a spiritual significance into the new social order."

He succeeded for a two-year term the Rt. Rev. T. W. Jones, D.D. of Montreal. Dr. Douglas H. Telfer of Vancouver was the only other candidate. Dr. Brewing's installation in the United Church's highest office took place in St. Andrew's-Wesley Church here, where he ministered from 1929 to 1938.

The General Council's 470 official delegates from throughout Canada and Newfoundland today swung into the discussions scheduled on the heavy agenda for the eight-day conference.

SOCIAL GOSPEL

Dr. Brewing, following his election, said the spiritual basis

Elected by General Council ... Rt. Rev. Willard Brewing, D.D. of the church's social gospel now needed new emphasis.

He said he saw two primary tasks before the United Church in the coming two years: an emphasis on its foreign missions and preparation for its 25th birthday in 1950.

High also among the coming problems he said was the task of fostering the ecumenical (world-wide) movement within the church.

Retiring Moderator Jones had said earlier in an address that the church must strengthen its fight against the materialistic conception of life based on Communism.

He cautioned the United Church to hold to its strengthening heritage from which it sprang: The orderliness of Presbyterianism, the warmth of Methodism and the freedom of Congregationalism.

Dr. Jones said there is "a conscious growing move towards unity within the Protestant church." The move was large enough to accept all sects and churches.

AT WORLD COUNCIL

Recently returned from a series of international church meetings in Europe, Dr. Jones said he saw a growing importance of Canada among the world's nations.

"The church, especially the United Church, must be aware of this growing place of importance," he said.

W. J. Holliday of Montreal Tuesday night was named first United Church secretary of lay activities.

A piece of stone from the operations room at Bigging Hill R.A.F. station, Kent, described as "the only permanent relic of the Battle of Britain front line headquarters," has been given to Air Commodore C. B. Dacre, D.S.O., former station commander.

Going Steady... with 2 Ton Bites

EVER try to get past a big excavation job without stopping to watch? Fascinating, isn't it? Look at Tom Power in the cab of the giant power shovel which devours earth in two-ton bites. Tom's a skilled operator, worth every cent of the $60.80 he earns each week.

HE couldn't make that much on a pick-and-shovel gang. He'd be paid less for each hour's work because he'd accomplish less. However hard he worked with a pick, Tom alone would never be able to save enough to buy that power shovel, to increase his earning power and his wages.

BUYING equipment and tools... often many thousands of dollars worth per man... is the job of a company which can raise capital. Machinery and tools get the job done more quickly at lower cost and enable Tom and his fellow employees to earn more... because they produce more.

TOM'S power shovel and higher wages are the result of a free system in which men have the incentive to seek better ways of increasing production at lower cost. This system, we believe, offers the greatest rewards, the highest standards of living, the best job-security and freedom of opportunity.

After one year, the U.S. Aid to Greece reconstruction program, result of the "Truman Doctrine," shows constructive results. Perhaps the biggest single accomplishment is the $680,000 rebuilding of the war-damaged Corinth Canal, below, right, linking Greece's east and west coast ports. Greece's road system—1,000 miles of it—was also repaired, a $5,000,000 job. At left is one of the road material installations. Another $35,000,000 went for food, shown being unloaded in Athens, below, left, to feed, among others, 1,000,000 indigents and 500,000 refugees.

Arrangements are being made by Minister of Education W. T. Straith.

Big Developments Surveyed For Vancouver Island Parks

Mapping of an overall park development program for British Columbia, including the improving of several parks and the opening up of others on Vancouver Island, now is under way by the provincial lands and forests department parks division.

During the current season crews at Little Qualicum Falls Park, off the Alberni Road, have opened up another 25 acres of the 130-acre park which was first developed as a Dominion-provincial undertaking during the depression with youth labor. Crews have been carrying out general development of the park, putting in a water system, constructing drainage ditches, removing log-jams in the river canyon and generally cleaning up the already developed park area as well as preparing the new area.

Little Qualicum Falls Park is the biggest provincial park drawing card on Vancouver Island. The parks division this fall and winter plans to rebuild the park access road, 1.8 miles long, to provide a modern hard-surfaced highway into the park. Construction of a large parking lot at the park is also projected.

It is hoped that during the winter the access road will be completed. Hard-surfacing is slated for next spring or summer.

Officially opened not long ago, Petroglyph Park near Nanaimo was also developed during the current season by parks division forces.

AT ENGLISHMAN'S RIVER

Parks division surveyors this winter will survey for an improvement of the access road to Englishman's River Falls Park, also entered from the Alberni Road. Considered by the parks division as scenic area as Little Qualicum Falls Park, the Englishman's River Falls Park is hampered by the present poor long access road. Officials hope the provincial works department will help provide a modern road from the Alberni Highway to the park area. The parks division will then reconstruct the road from the park boundary to the falls.

Officials in charge of development of provincial parks also have in mind the development of a park drive on the Alberni Highway from Little Qualicum Falls Park to Cathedral Grove. The highway now is in the process of reconstruction, the major portion having been completed. The parks division would like to acquire more land along the highway.

AT ELK FALLS

Beautification of the B. C. Power Commission's John Hart Development at Campbell River and further development of Elk Falls Park, the parks division feels, would make that area one of the best parks on Vancouver Island. The commission has agreed to co-operate with the parks division in an overall development scheme which may be undertaken before long.

During the winter survey parties will study the route for a new road into the Forbidden Plateau and will look into the possibility of linking this road up with a new road into Strathcona Park. The only highway access to the huge Strathcona Park at the present time is a wholly unsatisfactory road into Upper Campbell Lake.

Parks division officials know that a new road, without hazardous switchbacks which feature the present road, is feasible into the Forbidden Plateau. They say it would provide a much better grade than the road over which motorists now must drive to reach Forbidden Plateau Lodge on the edge of the plateau.

The surveys for the overall park development program for the province are expected to take several years to complete. In the meantime on the mainland the parks division has undertaken several projects.

These include building of the road to Mount Seymour Park near Vancouver. This year it is hoped 3.8 miles of the road will be completed. It is hoped that the remaining 4.5 miles will be completed next year. Parks division officials admit that the road is a tough project, costing $50,000 a mile.

At the Peach Arch near White Rock the parks division is building a comfort station and providing accommodation for outdoor meals and for shelter.

In Wells Grey Park roads are being constructed to two fine waterfalls on Clearwater River. Dawson Falls is 65 feet high, while Helmcken falls is 450 feet high.

Considerable trail building is being done in Manning Park, astride the Cascade Range, which will be opened up with the completion of the Hope-Princeton Highway. The parks division is also developing look-out stations there for fire protection purposes.

Manning Park will probably be developed on a big scale following the completion of the highway. It provides a variety of scenic attractions and is expected to attract many visitors because of its proximity to Vancouver.

Residents Want Cannery Removed

A resolution requesting the Department of Indian Affairs in Ottawa to cancel the license and to order the removal of the Empire Cannery at Esquimalt Harbor, was passed at a meeting Tuesday of the View Royal Community Association.

The resolution was passed after Capt. W. B. L. Holmes alleged the company had failed to carry out its promise to eliminate offensive odors coming from the cannery.

Capt. Holmes is chairman of a committee appointed earlier in the year to investigate complaints about the company from property-owners. Other members of the committee were J. W. Cross, W. E. Speed and a representative of Esquimalt council.

The plant involved is located on Indian Reserve property. The lease will expire in two years time.

Members of the association complained of fish heads and other debris washed on to the beaches. Others claimed they suffered from odor every time the plant was in operation.

Samuel Johns Dies In Oregon, Aged 88

Samuel Johns, pioneer grocer and butcher in Victoria until he moved to Los Angeles in 1923, died Sept. 21 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. Valentine, Grant's Pass, Ore.

Mr. Johns was born in Hampton, Ont., in 1860 and came to this city in 1889. For many years he and his brother, Albion, ran a grocery and butcher store at the corner of Douglas Street and Kings Road.

Mr. Johns lived in Los Angeles with another daughter, Gladys, until recently, when he went to Grant's Pass. He was predeceased by his wife seven years ago.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at the Oregon town. Cremation and interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Glendale, Calif.

Need DDT 'Fogging' To Kill Mosquitoes

WINNIPEG (CP)—It may not console Winnipeggers who took mighty—but largely futile—swipes at hordes of mosquitoes for a week this summer to learn that the pests were "foreign" invaders, not the home-grown variety.

Dr. H. M. Speechly, head of Winnipeg's anti-mosquito campaign, put the finger on the "foreign" invaders when defending the work done by his field crews around the city.

The stingers which made nights miserable for citizens, swooped in from breeding places as far as five miles away, said Dr. Speechly.

Life in rural regions where mosquito larvae had not been sprayed "simply wasn't worth living."

DID 150 SQUARE MILES

"The anti-mosquito campaign does the basic work of killing larvae," said Dr. Speechly. "We have done a good job over 150 square miles around Winnipeg, including 403 miles of ditches and a large surface area of water."

If the city is successfully to fight future "invasions," DDT "fogging" should be employed, Dr. Speechly said. This would require a 900-pound machine and a jeep to transport it, and would cost about $3,500.

"We could fog the whole city in about a week. It costs money to fog. But Norfolk, Va., a city the size of Winnipeg, spends $30,000 a year on mosquito control. We spend $12,000."

China's Civil War Tough On Reporters

NANKING (AP)—Covering China's civil war is harder than trying to watch a football game in the rain through the wrong end of a pair of binoculars. At the football game you can see something, even though dim and distant.

In China, correspondents must depend for the bulk of their war reports on information so slanted and biased that the degree of truth is a constant question.

Without doubt, there is less first-hand reporting of the war in China than of any conflict of modern times. The very nature of the fighting—filled with guerrilla actions, sudden thrusts and quick fadeouts—is partly responsible.

Despite a large information office and a special information section of the defence ministry headed by a lieutenant-general, the Chinese government discourages first-hand, unbiased reporting of the war. The Communists' "iron curtain" is even more effective.

The result of this policy is that war coverage depends on official "news releases." These handouts usually contain more propaganda than fact, and Chinese newspaper reports are sharply controlled.

Sounds For Movies On Short Notice From 'Library'

By JACK QUIGG
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A short burp, the plaintive whistle of a distant train, a cougar's cough and a gallow's clatter are a few of thousands of odd noises that are the daily concern of movie sound men.

The noises, recorded on the sound tracks of standard movie film, are kept ready for short notice use. Thus, if Mickey Rooney's sneeze comes out off key, sound men merely dub in one of hundreds on file in the library.

M.G.M.'s collection is typical. Sounds from airplanes to zippers are carefully catalogued and stored in fireproof vaults. This "library" consists of four walk-in vaults, each holding 2,000 cans of film.

The sounds of auto engines are recorded by make and model back to the Maxwell, Stanley steamer and the Bean (an old English make).

BELCHES NUMEROUS

Belches are classified as "long," "short," "man's," "boy's," "through a handkerchief," and numerous other ways.

The sounds of a pea shooter, a candle being blown out, a spittoon being hit, a skull crushed are there. Native chants and yells are catalogued geographically. Baby's cries are listed by age and whether the infant is happy or fretful.

"Our sounds are 99 per cent authentic," says Mike Steinhore, in charge of the library. "It's easier to record the real thing than it is to invent a substitute."

The "Green Dolphin Street" script called for an avalanche. By blending the sound of thunder with the crash of falling trees, tearing timber and falling glass—done inside a glass greenhouse for greater resonance—an avalanche was achieved.

For the atomic bomb explosion in "The Beginning or the End" the sound men simply amplified and extended their biggest explosion, a 16-inch cannon blast.

"Often it's the simplest sounds that are the hardest to record," Steinhore says. "Getting Lassie to give out with a remorseful bark is as hard as anything."

His toughest assignments, Steinhore says, were duplicating the din of the earthquake in "San Francisco" and the rustle of millions of locusts for the plague in "Good Earth."

OAK BAY THEATRE
Visitors to the Oak Bay Theatre where Warners' "Mildred Pierce," is currently playing, will see Joan Crawford, who stars in the title role, being energetically kissed on the neck by Zachary Scott.

This not exactly indirect approach leads up to a realistic and fervent embrace in the story and was worked out in detail and by degrees by director Michael Curtiz, Miss Crawford and Mr. Scott.

RIO THEATRE

As a welcome relief from the more usual boy-meets-girl romance that comes out of Hollywood, Warner Bros. have ventured to produce a new and different type of screen love story that combines sound plot with skilful presentation. "Devotion," currently playing at the Rio Theatre is that picture. Concerned with the strange triangle of two sisters who fall in love with the same man, the film boasts a top-notch cast of players headed by stars Ida Lupino, Paul Henreid, Olivia de Havilland and Sydney Greenstreet.

ROYAL THEATRE

To ensure absolute authenticity of background for his new Paramount production, "So Evil My Love," producer Hal Wallis took his staff, Ray Milland, Geraldine Fitzgerald and Leo G. Carroll to England where they were joined by Ann Todd and others of the cast.

The suspense drama, which is now at the Royal Theatre, is set in London and its suburbs. Scenes were shot at Lincoln's Inn Fields, the centre of activity for the legal profession, Regents Park, Rotten Row and Cheyne Row in Chelsea. Lewis Allen directed.

ATLAS THEATRE

Packing a terrific wallop with the head-on impact that only a story free of make-believe and based on tough, unrelenting truth can achieve, Twentieth Century-Fox's "Call Northside 777" emerges as a unique and unforgettable motion picture experience. Yesterday's audience at the Atlas Theatre, where the picture which stars James Stewart is on view, was visibly stirred.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Don McGuire, who has a top featured role in support of stars Red Skelton and Janet Blair in Columbia's rollicking comedy, "The Fuller Brush Man," is one of the few newspapermen to turn actor. The ex-scoop artist plays a stuffy character in the movie currently at the Capitol Theatre.

ODEON THEATRE

Drama and comedy are skillfully blended to make Samuel Goldwyn's new dramatic production, "The Best Years of Our Lives," now being shown at the Odeon Theatre, an outstanding motion picture. Myrna Loy, Fredric March, Dana Andrews, Teresa Wright, and Virginia Mayo are starred in this RKO Radio release, and Cathy O'Donnell, a new Goldwyn discovery is introduced.

DOMINION THEATRE

In Republic's stirring drama, "I, Jane Doe," starring Ruth Hussey, John Carroll and Vera Ralston, now at the Dominion Theatre, movie fans will see a new male over whom to sigh. He is Roger Dann, who portrays a French army officer in the picture. Roger leaped to fame in his native France as the French Frank Sinatra but, in typical movie fashion, he doesn't sing a single note in "I, Jane Doe."

YORK THEATRE

Bobby-soxers are known to literally have torn souvenirs from the backs of their idols, but rarely do they exhibit the ingenuity and daring of one Dana Andrews fan in Stamford, Conn.

Andrews, along with the rest of the Twentieth Century-Fox Company, came to Stamford to film Darryl F. Zanuck's presentation of "Boomerang!" which is currently at the York Theatre. In town, a crowd followed Andrews wherever he went and he didn't dare throw away even a burnt match, because it would start a made scramble among souvenir hunters. One girl, however, managed to snare a prize—a whole book of matches with Dana's name imprinted on it.

PLAZA THEATRE

Two South London girls caused some confusion on the set at Ealing Studios when they were appearing together in Michael Balcon's "It Always Rains on Sunday," which is currently at the Plaza Theatre.

They were Patricia Plunkett and Susan Shaw.

Susan Shaw is one of the J. Arthur Rank starlets who has had her name changed for her. It's really Pat Sloats, and she is still "Pat" to her friends and family.

It took director Robert Hamer a long time to puzzle out why both Pat Plunkett and Susan Shaw always jumped up when he called for "Pat!"

The DOCTOR Says:

MORE CAREFUL CANNING MENS FEWER OUTBREAKS OF BOTULISM

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Botulism is a kind of food poisoning. It is caused by swallowing a toxin or poison produced by the growth of a germ in canned foods which have not been heated enough. The greatest danger from this serious condition comes from home canning.

From 1899 to 1941 some 359 outbreaks of botulism have been reported in Canada and the United States. Home-canned string beans, asparagus, corn and spinach have been most commonly incriminated.

The symptoms generally develop in from 12 to 36 hours after eating poisoned food. Nausea and vomiting are common and are usually followed by symptoms involving the nervous system. Double vision and other disturbances of sight frequently occur. Difficulty in swallowing is a common complaint. Death, unfortunately, is frequent and is most common in from three to six days.

They'll Do It Every Time

The treatment of this serious but fortunately rare condition is unsatisfactory. There is an antitoxin, but this treatment is not of value after the symptoms have appeared, and too frequently a diagnosis is not made until the symptoms are well advanced.

The control of botulism requires a knowledge of the disease and the germ responsible for it. The germ is distributed very widely and is likely to be on vegetables commonly used for home canning. The germ itself is harmless but the poison it produces is what is dangerous. Furthermore, the disease germ is rather resistant to heat. For this reason it has been suggested that high temperatures for rather long periods be used in the canning of all foods. Such methods of canning with high temperatures and under pressure for sufficiently long periods have been used more and more frequently with the result that fewer outbreaks of botulism are occurring. It is extremely important to use every precaution to avoid the danger of contamination of canned foods.

Question: What is diverticulosis of the colon? Can it be cured, or is it malignant?
Answer: Diverticulosis means little out-pouchings. Diverticulosis of the colon (bowel) is quite common and often completely unnoticed. If uncomplicated it does not require treatment. It is not cancerous.

Got a Pencil and Pc. of Paper?

WE SURE ARE A NOSEY OUT. FIT . . . we know the age of every gal in town . . . as well as the number of her house. You DON'T believe it??? Well . . . get a piece of paper and a pencil, and . . .

Put down your house number . . . then double it. Add 5. Multiply by 50. Add your age. (Be truthful, there's no one looking, you know.) Add the number of days in a year. (Not leap year). How you doing??? Better go back and check O.K.? Now subtract 615. (Subtract means take-away). The last two figures are your age, the others your house number . . . Right???

Let's see now . . . if I've got that straight?? Suppose you're 35 and live at 103 S. Street. Double 103 makes 206. Adding 5 makes 211. Multiplying by 50 makes 10,550. Adding your age 35 makes 10,585. Now subtracting 615 and you get 10,335 and so you ARE 35 . . . and you live at 103 S. Street . . . isn't it marvelous??

NOW PUT 135 down below all those figures . . . draw a circle around it. Got that?? Then to the right put down in capitals the letters L.M.P. The 135 is the price of this 3-piece Chesterfield . . . the L.M.P. is the Low Margin Profit . . . 135 L.M.P. WHATTABUY . . . brand new, too.
